WHAT'S HAPPENIN'

-BY: JESSICA HANSEN

What's happenin' in our little town of Preston? That is why we, as a yearbook staff have put together this book. We want to show PHS all of the little things that go into our school to make it a whole. We have many students all packed into our little halls all busy with their own schedules and their individual aspects of life. With all the different classes, and all the different activities, we show our hard work and dedication to this school, as well as 'Preston Pride'!

Throughout our book we have covered sports, academics, individual classes, advertising, our many clubs, and student life. "What's happenin'" at PHS is shown throughout each one of those sections. It shows the importance of every group and single personalities.

As the editor of this yearbook, I hope that everyone felt as if they were involved and a part of our school. I hope that you enjoy looking and reading through our book, and notice all the great memories that you can look back on in ten, twenty, and even fifty years. Each year of our highschool life is one to cherish, and one that you'll want to relive over again in the future. I can tell you that nothing else will ever beat these highschool years at PHS!

"Being a student here is awesome because Preston High School is the best! We have school spirit, and a lot of opportunity for a small school. The faculty here offers more help to each student. Maybe the school looks a little old, but the people who attend always give it a new look as we stand for Pride, Honor, and Service. To be a part of that is 'sweet!'"

"...Being a student..."

"Well, I'm not gonna get all mushy, but I'd rather be here than anywhere else. We have good school spirit, at least there aren't any gun shootings or anything. It's pretty sweet to be able to walk down the hall and say 'hey' to everyone no matter how 'cool' they are. ROCK ON PHS!!!"

STAYIN' TRUE TO OUR SCHOOL

BY: JESSICA HANSEN

...Once upon a time... there were 731 teenagers all joining each other, everyday for 9 months of their lives. The place that they challenged their minds to new learnings, and made long-lasting friendships was known as Preston High School. The students of course had their own schedules and ideas, but still dedicated their time to being a true student of PHS. In this year of 00-01, our studentbody president was Senior Chris Gamble. He is one of our best fans located here. As he started the year, he chose the theme of "Be True to Your School". I asked him why that one worked best for him. He replied, "I chose this year's theme not only because it is a great song by the Beach Boys, but also because it stated exactly what I hoped to accomplish over the course of the school year. I wanted students at PHS to feel unified and act as integral parts of our great high school. Through showing school spirit and taking pride in Preston High, each of us could become 'True Indians' in our own way."

We appreciate Chris and the rest of the exec council.

Their hard work and effort that they put in with our school, and our students, makes everything better and will have a great and lasting effect. This year has been a great and successful year for all, and we will forever remember, and "Be True to our School!"

"We as the students of PHS have the power to our own individuality, and to show 'what's happenin'."

HEATIN' IT UP!

When school gets out in May until school starts in August our summers are filled with many adventures. Some students go on family vacations and some students stay around Preston and work a summer job. Here is what a few students from PHS do in the summer to keep busy and to get themselves ready to come back to school in the fall.

Chase Harris had a big adventure when he went to Michigan alone. Liz Olsen went bridge jumping and skinny dipping. Keltsey Marley just stayed around Preston and worked at Pizza Villa. Jenna Porter took a road trip to Florida. Heather Griffeth had many great exciting camping trips and she had the best 24th of July ever! Shandra Starkey played Warp Tour and partied with her friends. Cameron Dockstader's summer was full of working at the school and basically lived there running new wires through the auditorium being stuck there until sometimes two o'clock in the morning. Kelly Rawlings stayed around and he played basketball and baseball. Jason Spackman flew an airplane. Kim Poole and all of her friends had a frightening experience when an ex-convict chased them around and followed them.

Preston High Students had some good and bad and some not very enjoyable experiences. Whether we had to work or didn't have to work at all, the summer flies by and before we know it, it's time to go back to school and we have to spend the money we made on clothes and the summer is gone and we still have one hundred and eighty days of school before we have another wonderful summer.

Got Milk???? Blaise Burns is handing out Milk with the football team during the parade, one of Preston's annual events.

Show those pearly whites!! Natalie Foster is overly excited to come back to Preston High School, after all it is her senior year.

Look at Us!! Josh, Kevin, Wade, and Jon are waiting in the registration line to find out their classes, while Kevin and Jon are striking a sexy pose for the women.

Hey Blondies!! Tracie Moser and Tina Shaffer are at the Carnival and they find something in particular very amusing.

Eatin' Some Food. . .Eric Davis, Dion Almond, Justin Donald, and Jake Hobbs are just hangin' out enjoyin' the food at the rodeo and the carnival over the summer.

Keepin' Busy . . . Jessica Moyes is a very good employee working at Polar Bear as she smiles at her customers.

WAKIN' UP

BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP BEEP

Get ready for school! When we wake up in the mornings some of us wake up to the sound of the radio and some just to the regular beeping of the alarm. The fact is that we still have to get up and come to school.

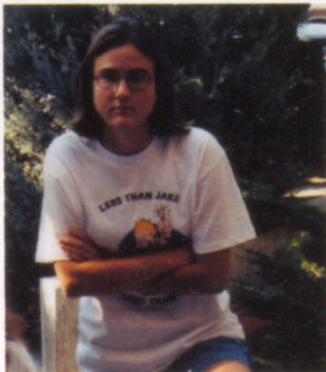

When waking up to a radio we asked students which song is the worst to wake up to in the morning. We got a lot of very interesting answers. Nate Fuller, for instance, doesn't like to wake up to the song 'Say My Name'. Katy Moses is a little more picky when she doesn't want to wake up to anything with whiney country songs. Blaise Burns doesn't want to wake up listening to Cher. Chris Larsen said anything by Backstreet Boys, Ricky Martin, or N' Sync. The alarm sound beeping is what Cameron Dockstader doesn't want to hear. Jed Webster dislikes waking up to any Christmas music because it stays in his head all day long. Charlsie Geddes doesn't want to wake up to anything that she can keep on singing in the day. Heidi Hansen would rather not wake up at all!!! There are many people who don't like to wake up to Madonna or to Britney Spears.

Nobody wants to wake up early and go to school. When we wake up to a bad song that is equal to getting up on the wrong side of the bed and being grouchy. Hopefully we can wake up and be happy and hear a good song that we want to hear and that we like.

Standin' Around Doin' Nothin', Here is a group that is just waiting for the football game to start, they all want to sit on the couch to watch the game.

BEIN' BAD, GETTIN' AWAY

Famous Crimes like the O.J. Simpson trial and the Presidents improper relationship will always be remembered. There are many things we would like to get away with, so we asked PHS students if they could get away with any crime what would you do? We had many creative answers and some have probably already been accomplished.

Given her choice Telene Allred said she would go streaking. Whenever Summer Maseuli gets behind the wheel, you'd better watch out, she said she would go at least 160 mph everywhere she went! Katy Moses said she would run over Jason Hansen! That's something to think about! Going for the smelly stuff is what Emily Foster would do, she'd steal anything she could from Bath and Body Works. Liz Olsen would set off some illegal Fireworks. Torrie Smith chose a bigger crime when she said, "killing someone I absolutly hate!!! Pray she doesn't hate you! Steal all the Pez, is what Heather Buys would do. Jim Miller thought smartly when he chose he would knock off Fort Knox. Blake Hull said that is is just 'Too Late'. Heather Griffeth would simply murder "Penelope" no harm done in that, right? Tony Woolf is a honest person and he would J-Walk, not too bad. Once we got a McDonald's in Preston Crystal Bowcut said she would rob any Mc D's because she loves it!! Chris Larson said he would harm Bill Clinton or Al Gore because they don't know how to keep their hands to themselves.

We all have crimes we want to commit, lets just not commit them or we will probably get caught.

Gettin Tough

PHS girls are tough as nails

The players take their position. The fierce expression on the Seniors face hardly scares the Juniors. The ball is snapped QB Becky Shaffer hands the ball to Marybeth Westerberg. TOUCHDOWN, the ref yells. It's only thirty seconds into the game and the Juniors are all ready trailing by seven.

We asked the players what they are going to most remember about Powder Puff: Senior Amanda Heusser said, "knocking people down." Kate Moser, a junior begs to differ, she stated, "When Marybeth slipped through my fingers." That sure would be frustrating. "Growling at the Seniors," was Heather Buys' favorite part. Kellie Tobler had an embarrassing moment at practice when she split her pants. Connie Erickson said, "practices and the anticipation of the big game", were her favorite.

Naturally the Juniors lost (it's tradition) but each player gave their heart and soul. Final score SENIORS 24 -- JUNIORS 7. Better luck next year.

Homecoming! How long students have been dreading it or desiring for it to come is unknown. The assembly that started the week off included a Survivor Remake, singing of the Theme song by Doug Miller and Maria Seamons, and students eating sardines.

We asked PHS what their favorite part of the assembly was, here is what they said: Valynn Sparrow said, "The singing of the theme song and the dance to go with it." Russell Stephenson liked, "Watching Tony Woolf in the survivor balance for tickets." That sure was funny.

The most anticipated event of the week is the dance. Holding your date close and dancing slowly to the soft music. Here's what one student said their favorite part of the dance was: "Clean fun, it keeps you out of trouble," is what Shay Carter said.

After the dance when you take your date home there is the possibility of door-step action. We asked a few students to describe their first kiss using only one word. Here's what they said: Chanse Porter describes his as, "juicy." "Exciting," is how Chase Harris described his. Kelly Rawlings said his was, "sweet." So far everyone's first kiss sounded pretty romantic until Wes Beckstead told us his was, "interesting." Hope next years dance will be as exciting.

gettin Messy

They got more on themselves than anywhere else

A splash of this and a dap of that, WA-LA! It's a work of art! Devoted students woke up extra early on a Saturday morning to make sure their float, window or the hall looked absolutely the best. They spent hours glueing, stapling, painting and adding the final touches before the judges arrived.

"Why was yours the best?" We asked PHS and this is what they said: Tony Woolf says, "We had the broken up car." Ashlee Newbold seemed to disagree with the question when she said, "Ours wasn't the best." Better luck next year Ashlee. Josh Abrams agreed along with Ashlee when he said, "ours wasn't the best, and it all fell down." Heather Larsen said, "Because we have all the talent and the skills." Jana Hatch had the obvious reason why the junior hall was the best, "Cause we are the class of 2002!"

Gettin' Rowdy

Fresh buttered popcorn, hamburgers on the grill, and crowds of people wearing royal blue. All of these are indications of the "Big Game." A battle not only between teams or for the win of the homecoming game but for the traditional possession of the wagon wheel.

We asked some students why it's so important to beat Bear Lake? This is what some of them said. "To take back the wagon wheel and because we haven't won Homecoming the past two years," is what Shannon Morrison said.

What was the most memorable part of the game? Tina Shaffer and Tyler Smith think alike when they said, "When we won!" That was hardly on Juana Rodrigues' mind when she said "How cold it was."

The game, the crowd, and the food were all great. Homecoming this year will be forever remembered.

If you want a play where every move spells disaster, then Cash On Delivery is your show of choice. The character Eric, played by Chris Gamble, digs himself into a great hole as he lies again and again, cheating the government out of its money. Anything that he can do to swindle more money out of the government is his priority. It doesn't occur to him that with every lie comes more trouble as he tries to climb out of the predicaments that he has placed himself into.

Cash On Delivery was made up of a tremendous cast that filled the auditorium with lots of laughter from their crowd. Of course, no show could be a success without an awesome director like Mrs. Mary Heers. This show was a success from all aspects of theater performance.

Goin' * Crazy

Tests, work, and other people may sometimes make you want to pull your hair out. "Crazy" is one word that comes to mind when you hear the word "school." Here are some others student's thoughts: "Oh Yah!" is what Stacey Pimienta thinks. Jared Shulsen said, "Sleep." David Sharp thinks of "pain and suffering." Jeff Oliverson simply replied with swear words.

Crazy can be used in both a positive and negative way, especially when it comes to the opposite sex. So we asked PHS, what drives you crazy about the opposite sex? Flor Silva told us, "The way they smell." Hopefully that's a good smell. Clifford Garvis said they "scare" him. Are girls that frightening? Jenna Porter told us that "its the stupid things they do to make you mad." Yes, they seem to do that a lot. Their "smirks" is what drives Jessica Colvin crazy. Mike Stocks said the way they get mad over every stupid little thing that's "done wrong."

Whatever may drive you crazy, there is always something that keeps you going through the day, and until you find it, "Happy Hunting!"

Lookin Ahead

Tell me, will I be rich and famous? Will I have a good looking husband or wife? Who knows what the future will bring us. Usually, the unexpected happens and nothing goes as planned, but you never know. So, we asked some students what they think will happen after high school...Dean Krambule said, "Nothing I'm going to be a surf bum." Annette Jensen said she was "going to go to college and probably getting married in some exotic country." "Go to college and become an engineer," is what Ashley Kelly told us. Shawn Beardall said, "Go on a mission."

In many cases, there is someone who has inspired your life. Who are your heroes? Blaise Burns said, "Spiderman." Braydon McKenzie's reply was a little bit more realistic when he told us that his hero is "Muhammad Ali." Nina Wright said, "The Toothfairy." Kelly and Kolby Rawlings, are Richie Cromwell's heroes.

Keep striving for what you want and best of luck in the future.

Bein Rich and Famous

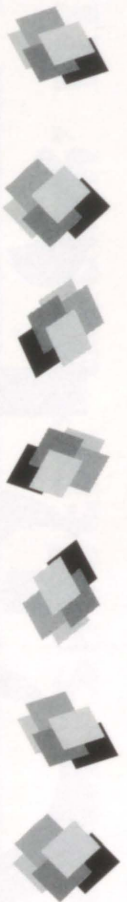

"Survival of the fittest," a line most often used when it comes to being rich and famous. There are many methods of striking it rich: 1- being an heir to Bill Gates 2- going to college and choosing a successful career 3- the lottery 4- Star Search 5- a 16th cousin to Brittany Spears 6- carrying out a scandalous crime 7- strike gold 8- becoming the next Michael Jordan, or 9- being on the show Survivor.

So if you had to be on the show Survivor, who would you want on the island with you? Brock Butterfield said, "Eric Auger, President Hinkley, Ryan Nyquist, and Fred Durst." Wes Beckstead said, "Only the four hottest girls in the world." That would be quite the competition. Mark Moser said, "Bill Gates, Richard Simmons (to make fun of), Superman, and Mr. Bill." "Neve Campbell, Melissa Joan Hart, Cindy Crawford, and Cartman (on South Park)," is what Tylor Maxfield told us.

Rather than having to die home in bed, the hospital bed, or wherever- we asked PHS if they could die in a public place where would they die? Brody Rogers would want to die at school, that would be traumatizing. Mark Hansen and Amanda Orozco picked an odd place when they told us a funeral home (to save time and money). A football game is where Chanse Porter would choose to die.

We all have to die some day. Hopefully it's painless and we have a good funeral.

How did it feel to win the last home game of the season?

"It was great we won the wheel back, our defense played hard, it was great that we won homecoming too. I will always remember the talk before the game."

Nick Hyde

What will you always remember about your last season in Preston High?

"Our team had heart I will always remember that. We were the underdogs and no one belived in us, then we kicked some @$."

Chanse Porter

What will you always remember about your last season in Preston High?

"We went through the bad and good as a team. Many teams over looked us but we sent them back to the locker rooms as losers."

Varsity FOOTBALL

The chain is only as strong as the weakest link," said Nick Hyde. This quote was constantly heard by members of the football team. The varsity football team had a great year; they excelled in every aspect of the game. To get as far into the post-season as they did, the coaching had to be great. A coach spends many hours watching film, drawing up plays, and helping the team in practice. The Preston coaches had many quotes to get the team fired up for a game. Some examples of the team's favorite quotes follow.

"The wheel is rollin," is Nick Neeley's favorite. Issac Jones likes the quote, "It is the little things that make a great football team." "We are the masters of our fate, we are the captains of our souls," is what Matt Shumway remembers. "Burns why can't you be like Woolf," is what Blaise Burns heard. Jaron Hatch kept it basic by saying, "It is up to you." "Winning championships is not everything, total effort is," is the quote Clayton Kerr liked and everyone on the team enjoyed hearing the poems about the other teams that Coach Gunter would come up with every week.

Whatever the coaches said or did, it got the team fired up. Our team had a very successful year, showing everyone that they could play with the best teams in the state.

JV Football

Preston JV football team has played well this year. A winning season must take dedication in the off-season. Lifting weights, knowing your plays, and of course the big three to get you in shape. We asked the JV team how they prepared for a game.

Both Chase Green and Devin Packer listen to music. Taylor Smith said, "I need to be serious, I need to get my game face on." "Think through the plays and keeping mental focus," is what Shawn Beardall does. Dan Beckstead stays relaxed while taking a nap. Clayton Kerr doesn't do early morning freight at Stokes. The JV team had a winning record this year. Whatever they did to get ready must have worked.

Frosh Football

Football is a sport that is full of superstars. Everyone has their own favorite, an idol, that they want to play like. The Freshman Football team was asked if they could be any sports figure in history, who would it be and why.

Jason Woodward said, "Jerry Rice, because he's fast, agile, and almost never drops a pass." Brady Moser has a different view of his idol, Lawrence Taylor, saying he'd be him because, "he's tough as %*$#."

Channing Hemsley would be Bill Romanowski, simply because, "he's cool."

Charles Woodson is who Russell Madsen would be because, "he's fast, quick, and good."

Apparently, sports idols are a very important thing to the Freshman Football team, they must be since the team was undefeated.

Spikin' Hard!

Varsity VOLLEYBALL

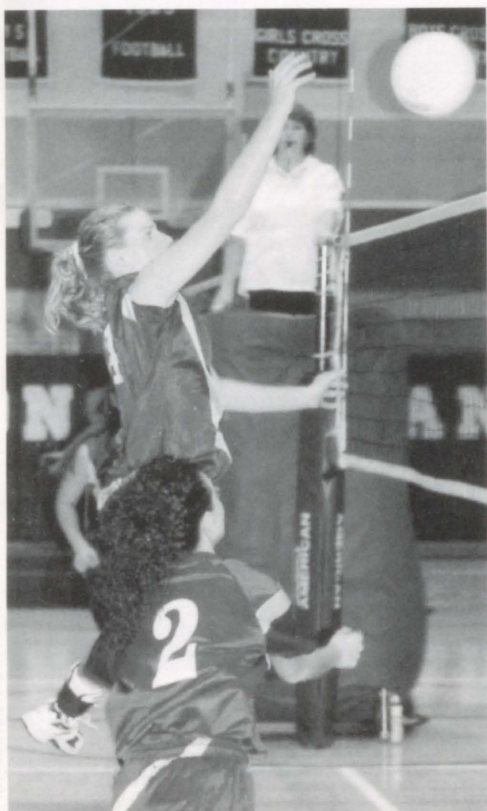

Our varsity volleyball team worked hard this year and it showed. Three hour practices every night, lots of intensity, heart, and soul. On the way home from away games the varsity team would sit in the back of the bus and sing songs. They would go from hymn songs to Christmas songs. Singing brought unity to the girls on the bus, especially after a long day. Penny Johnson's favorite song to sing is "Your mama don't wear no socks." To get prepared for the game Natalie Foster eats in the pit and Nikie Galloway thinks about the good things she is going to do. Others just flex every muscle in their body to make sure they are in perfect working condition.

When they went to district they killed Bear Lake the first time they played them. The next two times were not as fun and very emotional. They went to State in second place knowing they have the talent and ability to take it to the top.

The girls went in and beat a very hard team, St. Mary's. During the intense game Beth Masueli spiked a ball, hit a girl in the face and ended up breaking the girl's nose. The girls once again had to face their rivals, Bear Lake. They ended up taking second.

These girls will have many memories of volleyball for years to come. Katie Hansens is making the varsity team and being in the state championships. Most the girls remember beating Bear Lake the first time they played them; Kristine Marler adds that they also beat Highland. Overall Preston has a lot to be proud of when it comes to volleyball.

On game days, JV starts off by having team captain, Tina Russom give one of her pep talks. After, they head out to play wiggalo. Ashley Jackson, Jessie Parker, and Kacey Holt think this is the best way to get pumped up.

Early morning practices are a favorite for this team. Haley Porter is the only one who doesn't think so. Emily Foster says, "Night time was meant to party!"

Their favorite team to play is the notorious Bear Lake Bears. This team is their "best competition" says Liz Olsen.

Goin' The Distance!

Girls & Boys

CROSS COUNTRY

Imagine yourself at the starting line of the final meet of the season. The adrenaline is pumping and you are waiting anxiously for your signal so that you can begin your trek of 3.1 miles across some rugged country. In the back of your mind is the voice of Coach King Smith saying, "Either you do it or you don't." That is all the motivation you need. You are ready to begin on your road to victory. The boys and girls cross country teams definitely put our school back on the state championship map, with both teams taking first place at the state tournament earlier this year. The teams have shown tremendous dedication and determination.

To be successful, you must have a lot of encouragement and support behind you. The cross country parents are to be commended for their outstanding acts. For instance, every Saturday morning, the team would go for an one hour and ten minute run. Immediately following this, there would be a hearty breakfast waiting for them cooked by one of the parents.

Jed Webster was one of the teams great contributors. He was asked what being on a state championship team meant to him. He answered, "It feels great to be a part of the team. We have come a long way together, from freshmen to seniors and everything in between."

The cross country team has greatly honored PHS and the championship banners will hang in the rafters for years to come.

Soccer team needs many characteristics to have a winning season. Our team had many of them, speed, good defense, good coaching, and a good offense.

The first year of soccer had many memories. Here are some examples from the team. Jonny Steele said, "When I made a goal through the goalie's legs." "When Chad Abrams got a yellow card for saying 'aghh' at a player," is what Jonathan Griffeth remembers.

Michael Cole remembered when Steve Baker missed the ball on a drop-kick. "Crushing everyone in district," is what Robert Bowles likes. Anthony Hardy remembers, "When I missed the ball and ran back and dove on the ball before it went in the goal!"

Record 23-4

The state of Idaho was shocked. Declo, Sugar Salem, and Salmon were all put out of the State Tournament too early. All three teams tried, but none were able to knock off the Preston Indians. Preston played its finest defense when it mattered most, with 12 steals in the championship game. Offense wins games, but defense wins championships.

As the season went on, many memorable things happened, but the greatest memories occurred at state. Ethan Lucia will point out that "we were the underdogs and still won." "Hearing all the chants against Declo," was what Chanse Porter remembered. Jed Webster liked it when he was able to score 20 points on the number one ranked team, Declo. "The amazing ride into town with the Police escorts," was what Travis VanOrden recalled. "All the streamers at the end of the championship game," were what Blaise Burns and Jared Workman remembered.

The whole season was one to remember as the Indians were able to top it off with a state championship. The team, school, and the town will always reflect, Salmon getting shut-down.

JV Basketball

The JV team had a good season this year. The team played high-quality basketball. To play thirty two minutes of superior basketball requires plenty of running, passing, and scoring. It drains energy, and pushes your endurance well past capacity. To play your best, you need your body's high-octane fuel, and adrenaline, and nothing gets the adrenaline flowing through the veins like music.

Chase Harris likes to hear Vanilla Ice's Ice Ice Baby. AC-DC's Thunderstruck is the chosen pump-up song of Cody Foster. Can't Touch This by M.C. Hammer is the song Chance Randall prefers. Song #2 by Blur is Jordan Cox's favorite.

Regardless of what they did to pump up, the JV team had a successful and fun season.

Record 20-0

Frosh Basketball

The perfect season. It's often sought after, and seldom found. This year's freshmen team was one of the few who have ever attained the elusive 20-0 record. When you think of a flawless season, one question comes to mind: what does it take to be 20-0?

According to Kyle Heusser, "You have to have goals and do whatever it takes to achieve them." Todd Parker said, "It takes teamwork, hard practice, and being willing to listen." "A lot of practice, and a team that gets along good, like us," is what Bracken Fryar thinks it requires. Chris Larsen has a simpler view of what it demands. He said, "You don't lose."

No matter what happens for the rest of their high school careers, the freshmen team will always be able to remember this year's unmatched record.

Varsity

BASKETBALL

This year our girls did an extraordinary job. They worked hard and overcame some tough teams. They went into District as first place and ended up going to state as second. Overall they took third place at state. They worked hard and had fun doing it. The team united by putting braids in their hair and some even went as far as putting extensions in.

We all think we could do better at something if we could just change the rules a little. Take Jessie Parker for instance, she would rather not have any practice meaning that she could just be incredible and do good without any practice at all. Some players on the team wouldn't change anything mainly because they love the game too much. Still others would just change the referees because they are too picky.

When being compared to any college or NBA player, Becky Shaffer said, "John Stockton, because he's her hero." Nikie Galloway said she would be compared to Karl Malone, because he is a "HOTTIE!"

Basketball isn't only a game to these girls, as many may think, but it is a time when you go out and have fun. You go to practice every day and work hard for two to three hours at a time and in the process you make many friends. That is the equation for a great team. This year's varsity team can contribute much of their success to how they interact on and off the court. Besides being awesome basketball players, they are also best friends and have made memories that will last a lifetime.

Jessie Parker denies the ball hard anticipating the pass to the lower post. Jessie played great defense this year and that is why her efforts where such a great contribution to the team.

JV Basketball

This year the JV team had a rough start, but ended up having a winning season. They had to work hard to prove themselves against tough teams like Bear Lake and Marsh Valley.

Some quotes they remember Coach Schvaneveldt saying are "Get in her shorts!" What he is really trying to say is play tough "D" or at least that is Liz Olsen's interpretation. The quote Jessica Henrichs hates the most is "8 in 30" This means the girls had to run 8 lines in 30 seconds.

If Kacey Holt could change anything about basketball she would do something to prevent herself from getting injured. "I don't have very good luck, I am always getting hurt, says Holt." That is why you might hear coach calling her "Hop Along." Ashley Keller would make it so there is not any popularity on the court. "On the court we're equal," quotes Keller.

The JV Basketball team has risen above many challenges and have had a very successful season.

Frosh Basketball

The freshmen basketball team has done very well this year, especially since 6 girls out of the 11 had an injury.

The part about basketball that gives Katy Gibby a rush is when she shoots, because she "never knows if it is going to go in." She also had a very embarrassing moment. She says she "went in for the wrong person and then accidentally screened Annette Jensen when she was supposed to screen the other team." For Brijan Bradford it is "when the score is tied up and there is not a lot of time left in the 4th quarter. It is very exciting!"

On the long bus rides, Ashley Jackson likes to have long talks with each other, "laughing until everyone's sides hurt just about stupid things." Haley Porter just likes to talk, listen to her music and save up her energy by falling asleep.

These girls dedicate a lot of their time so they can be the best at what they do. When it comes to showing off their abilities in the game, their hard work definitely pays off. - Ashlee Newbold

The Rock, Stone Cold, Steve Austin- what would they be without a great nickname? Dwayne Johnson and Steve Austin, in other words, boring. The wrestlers at PHS are no different. The only question is, what would their nicknames be?

Deanomite is the name Dean Krambule gave himself. Scott Bostwick wants to be Showtime. Andy Lyon's nickname would be The Lyon Tamer. Might Mouse is what Caleb Sharp wants to be known by. Daniel Womack wants to be called Psycho, because he is so unpredictable. Stud City is the name Matt Bobka would answer to. Giovanni Crosland wishes he was Johnny Bravo, because he is tough and a ladies man. Chris Gamble would be called, Gamble the Great and Gorgeous Grappler. Chris chose this name because, "It flows baby."

Whatever they call themselves, the wrestlers did an excellent job this year. They have given us an electrifying season. The year in wrestling was truly one to remember.

Tradin'

Traits Around

Everyone sometime in their high school years, has a time that they wish that they could be like someone else in some way or another. Whether it be wishing for athletic ability like Nick Neeley or Alison Bobka or wanting the perfect smile like Blaise Burns and Lacey Moser, we all want some trait that we simply weren't born with. For instance, Nate Fuller would love to have Andy Lyon's toughness. Andy showed this trait after being hit by a suburban and walking away with minor injuries, earlier this year. Rebecca Phillip's personality is the trait that Natalie Foster would like to steal. Rebecca always has that "make others feel good and give service attitude." Leadership is the quality that Kody Golightly would take from Nick Hyde because "people listen to him and he can always get things started." Josh Bell would love to have Derrick Lyons' "ability to dress" and Shanna Jensen would love to have Nate Fuller's "irresistible irresistableness." Penny Johnson and Marybeth Westerberg are both thinking along the same lines when they say that they want some height. Penny would take Cheryl Waddoup's height and Marybeth would like Alison Bobka to give her two measely inches, what she "wouldn't give to be 5'4." Cache Christensen would like to have the ability to flex the muscles in his neck like Cameron Dockstader because "it attracts all of the ladies." Along the same lines, Dean Krambule would take Doug Miller's singing voice because "chicks dig it." We all know the humor that Seth Haslam shares with everyone, and Matt Shumway would love to snatch it right up. Samatha Inglet would like to have Becky Shaffer's cheerfulness and energy simply because she "needs it." Maria Seamon's piano ability is what Robin Daley wants in life and Sarah Hover would take Carrie Patton's unselfishness in a hurry. On the flip side, Colby Jensen would never want to have Emery Winward's enormous big toe because it is "humungous and disgusting." What trait would you want to take from someone? Many seniors are actually satisfied with who they are. Although, many of us think that we need a few changes, each member of the class of 2001 is perfect in their own way.--Kaydee Fryar

Slave Drivin'

We all know that there is that certain someone who we have always wanted to make do a little something for us. We all have our different reasons, but yet we all have the same goal in mind. Like, Blane Keller would love to make Kaydee Fryar his slave so that he could "make her walk around in the mountains, wearing her Dr. Martens, and scare out all of the deer so that he could hunt them easier." Lacey Moser has a good idea when she says that her slave would be Trevor Larsen. He would be her "bodyguard because no one could break through that wall." Nick Neeley is Katie Fellow's slave pick because "he is buff and cute" and she would "love to have him following her around." Brenda Nielson has about the same idea when she quotes that she would prefer Andy Lyon to be her slave because "he has a great body." Dean Krumbule can only dream when he says that he would have Marybeth Westerberg for his slave. Dean has heard from an un-named source that Marybeth is "great at feeding people grapes." Dean doesn't realize though that someone else is thinking that he would be a good slave as well. Robin Daley admits to wanting Dean as a slave because "he will do anything for a girl." Every girl in our grade can agree to that, after all, we did vote Dean in as the "biggest flirt of the senior class." Natalie Foster and Rachael Robinson would choose Nate Fuller for a slave in a second. Rachael states that Nate could always make her "laugh" and any slave that she could ever have "would have to be able to do that." As for Natalie, Nate "could sing" to her "and he could also see the top shelf of a locker where others can't." That would be nice and handy. Nate, on the other hand, would choose Shanna Jensen for his personal slave because "she can cook" for him all day long. Alison Bobka says that Blaise Burns would be her slave simply because, "he would want to be." Blaise will have to comment about that later. Laura and Sarah Hover miraculously, being twins, said just about the same thing as each other. Laura would make Sarah her slave and Sarah would make Laura hers. Sisterly love, isn't it a great thing. To finish off, Stevie Hull and Penny Johnson would definitely make Josh Bell their "love slave," and we will leave that at that. Who would you want for your slave? The class of 2001 has surely made their picks on slave opportunities, and who knows, maybe someday it will actually happen for them. --Kaydee Fryar

JUST HANGIN' AROUND

The ownership of the senior hall is something that we have all been waiting for throughout the years that we have been at Preston High. Zac Rasmussen, Maria Seamons, Yonnie Ho, Sarah Gibby, Shanna Jensen, & Jed Stewart show that it is a very popular spot to gather at after lunch and associate with your best friends.

Lookin' Back In Time

We all have some event that took place in our early school years that we will remember forever. It may have not been any kind of a life-shattering event, but it is still a great memory that will live on in our hearts to the end. For instance, who can ever forget the endless matches of "pog" that Rory Roberts and Seth Haslam used to battle out in the sixth grade? Or how about getting sent to the principal's office for playing kiss tag at recess? Decker Geddes remembers the time when he "tied Bill's shoelaces to each side end of the jungle gym, then pushing him over, and leaving him there by himself after the recess bell rang." Brandon Rawlings then adds that he remembers "when Bill Geddes was still out there after they were all back in class and they had to go untie him." Then Nick Hyde admits that he, along with the help of Nick Neeley, used to tie Bill up to the monkey bars as well, but all bullies get what is coming to them sooner or later. Jessie Hansen clearly recalls the time when she "hit Nick Hyde right in the nose, with a book, in Mrs. Harris' class, and he even started to cry." Speaking of trouble makers, what about playing "tackle football?" Matt Shumway tells of the time that "about thirty guys were playing tackle football at recess and the duty caught us and lined us all up against the wall. The line was about the length of the school." Blane Keller also admits that in the sixth grade, he had to pick up garbage and instead of throwing it away he "threw it all on top of the roof of the school" and Penny Johnson will never forget when Alison Bobka got in trouble for "throwing wet paper towels on the bathroom ceiling." No one could ever forget about the "marriages" that took place in our elementary days. One of the best may have been when "Kody Golightly and Rosanna Pitcher were married in the third grade. Kaydee Fryar and Marybeth Westerberg even made a veil and a wedding cake and everyone dressed up for the occasion." These memories are what tie our class together. Friends then, and friends now. We have shared a lot of laughs and a lot of tears. We will remember each other forever.

Havin' Success

Being successful is a very important factor in surviving and living up to the lifestyle that you want to achieve. Although everyone would like to have success in many different areas, there is always one that sticks out in your mind the most. The juniors of Preston High were asked to share one area that they would most like to conquer in their own lives.

Jenna Porter would love to become "An actress" and Andrea Combes would die to be "A singer on Broadway." Dayne Corbridge and Aaron Groesbeck completely agree that it would be awesome to become "Pro snowboarders."

Other members of the class of 2002 would like to discover the secret of happiness and love, while Tyler Hatch just wants to be successful at "Life" in general.

You may want to have success in an area such as sports. Kaleb Sharp would choose "Wrestling" and Heitor Soares would love to become a pro tennis player."

Casey Baird would say, if he could achieve absolute success it would be in "His wallet." Whether you choose to go after your dreams and achieve your goals is totally up to you. No one else can control your destiny. This particular class will gain success in many areas that will have great effects on themselves and those surrounding them as they take control of their futures.

"I would search for the bottom of Bloomington Lake."

-Natalie Sharp

"I wouldn't look for anything, why waste a year of my life for that."

-Dan Moses

"I would look for the perfect lifestyle."

- Jesse Keller

Everyone, sometime in their lives, have one thing or another that they would like to search for and find to make their lives somewhat better. For instance, Susannah Philbrick would search for "Peace," while Jodie Mason would like to find "True happiness, because there is nothing better than being happy without a care in the world."

Along other lines, some juniors would like to find things that would help them out as individuals. Jenna Porter would use her year of search for a "Money tree." Nathan Allen would love to find that "Perfect girl" and Cheryl Bell would love to find "Mr. Right." While Arien Coats and Shaelene Rounds would settle to just come upon a "Decent guy."

If you ever hear of an island called "Kelley-land," you will know that Kylie Kelley found what she went searching for. And you might be able to find Tyler Hatch "Living on Mars" if his search is completed.

In the process of searching for what you have always dreamed of, remember that it may be right in front of you. Maybe you just haven't looked hard enough for it yet. Always reach high for your dreams and aim for the stars. The sky is the limit and every member of the junior class has started out on the right path on their road to success.

Drivin' like Crazy

Drivers beware, you're in for a scare! The sophomores of 2000 are considered the new drivers on the road, and proud of it.

Being the new drivers is a world full of new challenges and car crashes. As Amanda Lund will agree, she says she has had to many crashes to count. "Being able to drive has given us our freedom," says Ashlee Newbold. Nothing is more important in high school than the car you drive! AJ Haslem says he would choose a viper, Cody Foster says a hummer, and Krista Peart says a sports car.

Some pretty scary and funny things can happen while driving! Jen Hull had an experience with a tire blowing out, and Kellen Hansen hit the curb, while Tonya Lamont was pulling out of Subway and her car door swung open in the middle of the highway. Driving has its lows like gas, tickets, ice, and car accidents. On the other hand, it also has its highs like freedom, and the will to do what you want when you want.

Driving has opened up all new doors to the sophomores and allowed them to go and do things they never thought possible. They may be scary and funny, but they now own the road!

Right: "Do we have any classes together?" Ryan Bodily asks. "No I don't think so." Robert Bowles Replies.

Movin' to the Beat!

The kids that make-up the sophomore class of 2001 are all different in many ways. One of the biggest ways could be the music that they listen to.

We have our punk rockers like Courtney Carver and Chris Davis, while others like to listen to alternative like Jessica Henrichs, Kevin Kindred, and Travis Hopkinson. Some like the old bands, some like the new bands. Carol Reese likes to listen to Creed, and Brandi Rasmussen honestly admits that her favorite band is 3 Doors Down. Most of the sophomore class has been around for fifteen or sixteen years so they all have heard different kinds of music like the Beatles, Beach Boys, and Sugar Ray.

One thing that most of them can agree on is a favorite music station, such as 96.3, 94.5 and 101.1 Kber. With all of the differences, they have at least one thing in common which is they all are the graduating class of 2003. That is a good thing, because you never know when the style of music might change, or the change within the students likes and dislikes.

W hat Are You Missin'?

When thinking back into your childhood, there are many memories that you will keep with you forever. Sometimes it is nice to just sit back and relax as you think of all the fun times that you had and the things that you will always miss. Jason Woodward will miss "Pretending that you are sick and being able to get away with it," and Brock Butterfield misses the fact that he "Could run around the supermarket naked and no one having a problem with it."

Of course, we all loved that we didn't have to go to school and could just sit around and play barbies or football all day. Russell Madsen would love to "Be able to get dirty like he used to," and Bracken Fryar will always miss playing endless hours of "Cowboys and Indians."

As young children, we have a certain innocence about us that seems to leave as we get older. Benjy Hess used to be able to get away with a lot. For instance, he says "That it was great to make sweet love to your little woman and forget about it the next day." Chase Child proclaims that he will never forget his childhood or grow out of it because he will always be a "Child" by name literally.

Whether it be MC Hammer pants, getting into movies for cheap, or just the fact that you could play all day and have no worries, there will always be that one particular thing that the freshmen class will miss about their childhood. By: Kaydee Fryar

-Clint Hobley

- Aaron Seamons

None If I took one away I would not be me.
-Ty Moser

If I could get rid of one emotion, heart break would be the one.
- Sarah Buckingham

Emotions are a very strong force in society today. They have a major impact on how we react to different situations and obstacles that come up in our lives. The freshmen experience many emotions as they escape from the middle school and enter a new dimension... high school life.

For instance, Shannon Egbert may not have been scared to enter high school but she definitely has a great fear of her mother finding out a few secrets about Shannon. Ashlynn Bronson says that she has a problem with being "Angry, because it is so easy to get mad about things."

Other members of the class of 2004, would like to eliminate hatred, depression, jealousy, and the feeling of regret. Cindy Owen hates to feel sadness because she "Hates to feel sad and to have other people feel that way."

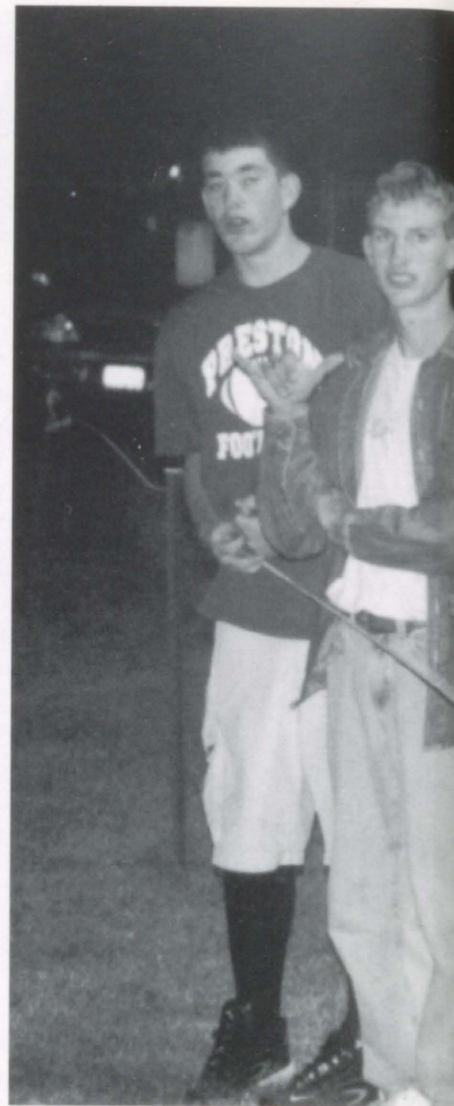

Katy Moses has another idea when she says that she would get rid of the feeling of "Liking boys, it just causes way too many problems."

No matter what emotions you feel throughout the day, they are all part of growing up and come with the territory of being in high school. The freshmen will surely go through many of these feelings, as their road through high school has only just begun.

The Perfect Hair

Some of our teachers are feeling the need for a new look. One of the questions asked to the faculty was "If they had to take the hair of someone they knew whose would they take?" Some of the answers we received were pretty interesting. Mrs. Seamons said, "Vidal Sassoon models, with unattainable perfect, shiny, split-ended heads of hair." Mr. Robertson said, "Mr. Williams, low maintenance." It will take a lot of wishing to attain some of these wishes. Baldness seems hereditary in this school. I know that Mr. Higley, Mr. Williams, Mr. Brodock, and coach Pratt are some of the many that are looking for that perfect hair, that is still hiding away in some far away country, or that has been lost over the years.

There are many different types of hair. Some with natural curl, some with spikes, and some that is straight as a board. There are also people that get the pleasure of having bright colors, or different kinds of accessories. There are the more common types and then we get a few extremes. None of the teachers in this school wanted to do anything outrageous or have any type of hair that is out of control. Mr. Womack said, "He would like to have Lincoln Nelson's hair." I think we all know why he would like to have his hair. Mrs. Moser said, "Katie Hansen, but I wouldn't want to have to take time to do it everyday." It would be nice if we didn't have to do our hair everyday, you could just get up and go. All the hours spent in the morning trying to do your hair in a way that will make others want to have the same kind of hair you have.

Whatever your hair type may be there is always a chance for you to change the style. From the look of the PHS faculty members the outlook is good. Everyone is looking good these days, and they don't need anything else to worry about, especially their hair. Just concentrate on giving all your students A's.

Question- Answer?

We asked Mrs. Heers, "If you could have the answer to any question, what would you ask?" She said, "Will I make it to the Imperial Tombs of China, the Wild Game preserve in Africa and the Taj Mahl in India before I die?"

Gluteus Maximus

We all know that we don't get everything we want in life, but a few teachers have given us some opinions about a trait that could be useful to them. We asked them, "If you could trade your derriere for that of someone else's whose would it be?"

Ms. Woodward said, "I've earned mine, I'd keep it." Although some people are happy with their derriere, overall there are some things that they'd like to change. Mrs. Stewart thinks, "Since it would be a trade, I doubt I'd find anyone willing enough to deal." There might be a lot of people with that same comment in life. There are so many people that are worried that it makes them paranoid to get up in front of a group of people. While there is some people that exercise to get a better quality derriere, there are some people that pay money for one.

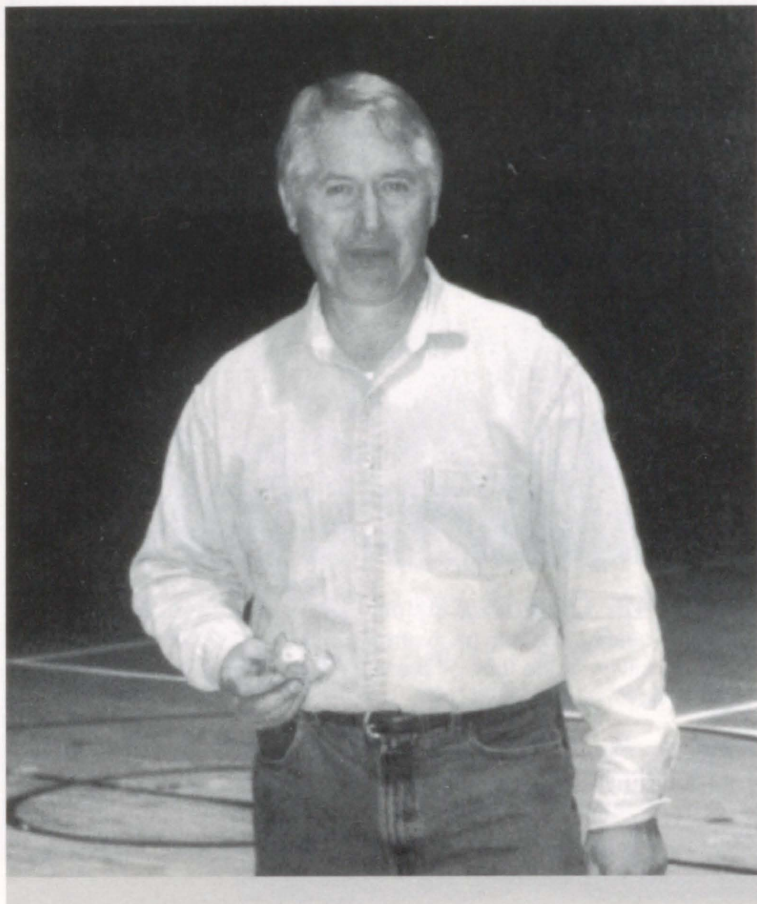

Mr. Gunter said he would like to have Jennifer Lopez's, "because didn't she just get a new one?" According to Mrs. Seamons she said, "No ones! Have you really looked at them? By themselves derrieres aren't so beautiful. Mine is just fine!" It's o.k. to think about the kind of body you want. It is all right to not want to change anything about your derriere. Some people love the way the feel, and the way that the jeans look. After all it isn't the bare skin you see it's the jeans that cover the derriere that make it so attractive about the opposite sex.

There is no rule saying if you don't have a nice behind, you can't get married or you can't play basketball. It may be nice if we could all have 'perfection', but sometimes we all just have to look at the other good qualities.

By: Amanda Heusser

"You can't improve perfection, I'll stay with mine!"

Everyday Experiences

We have all had experiences in our lives that we would never want to experience again. On the other hand there are experiences we would like our children to have and that we would like to relive. We went and asked the faculty members of PHS, "If you could ensure that your children never have one experience you have had, what would it be?" Mr. Oliverson said, "I wouldn't ever want them to see someone they love, suffer and die." Mrs. Hopson said, "Divorce."

While everyone has had experiences that were bad they have also had experiences that were good. Mr. Brodock said, "None, every experience in my life has been a growing experience for me." While everyone seems to have had bad experiences in life they seem to dwell off of them, and remember them the most. Some experiences may be physical and emotional. Mr. Robertson said, "an Inguinal Hernia." Mr. Klinke said, "Dyslexia." One of the experiences that Mr. Shumway said was "being a freshman."

Some experiences we want to remember and we want to relive can also be bad as well as good. For the most part, everyone wants to relive something that is a high point in their lives, or something that has had a longing impression on them. It can deal with love, graduation of high school or college, or being with your family. We went and asked the teachers another question, "If you could relive one single day from your past exactly as it was the first time, what day would you choose to experience all over again?" Ms. Woodward said, "The day Patrick Dooley asked me to marry him." Mrs. Erickson said, "Camping in the Wyoming Mountains with my family." I think that we all know why Mr. Gunter answered the way he did. He said, "his wedding night." Whatever the experiences you have had, make them the best, even if they are situations that you don't want to be in. With that in mind, I hope we all can have lasting impressions and very good experiences.

We asked Mrs. Buttars, "If you could select a role model for each of your kids, whom would you pick?" she replied, "I hope me. I hope I am good enough that they would want to be like me."

Life - Easier?

We went and asked Mr. Williams, "If you could change one thing to make life easier for your gender, what would you change?" He replied, "I would change the unwritten rules for dating."

Attracting Qualities

You can sit down and make a list of good qualities you would want in a mate. Beautiful hair, long eyelashes, big muscles, the list could go on and on. You could even brainstorm for hours and hours hoping that the mate you have has all those qualities. We asked the teachers at PHS "What is the single most important quality in a good mate?" All of the teachers answered something that is one of their traits.

Mr. Klinke said, "calmness." Mr. Higley replied by saying, "always willing to forgive their mate." There are so many traits that we have in us that some people, even our loved ones don't know about. It may mean that they are taking a big risk to make the final commitment of settling down. Some of the best qualities that everyone wants in life are so hard to find. The qualities may just come to you or you may have to change and work on some of the qualities that your mate wants. Maybe it's not your mate that doesn't want you to have certain qualities it is yourself. You may not even realize some qualities you have, someone may compliment you on it. Take it to heart and keep exercising it and it will become habit.

Some of the qualities may be physical or it can be on the inside that makes your heart melt every time you see someone with that quality. It reminds you of your own priorities. They could be so gorgeous but yet have the attitude of a rotten old skunk. Sooner or later you will eventually have the same attitude that they do. Maybe that is the kind of quality that you are looking for. You have all heard that you date who you marry, and that you want to marry someone like your own mother or father. So if it takes some good quality time to figure out what you want in a mate, then take your time.

ACADEMICS

Kim Poole and Valynn Sparrow go through their final pictures to make sure that they will be the best.

Adam Whitmore and Jason Reeder measure the length of an iron bar in preparation to cut it.

To be in art, you really have to work hard. Shandi Harper does just that as she works on her project.

“Stivin’ to do our best work!”

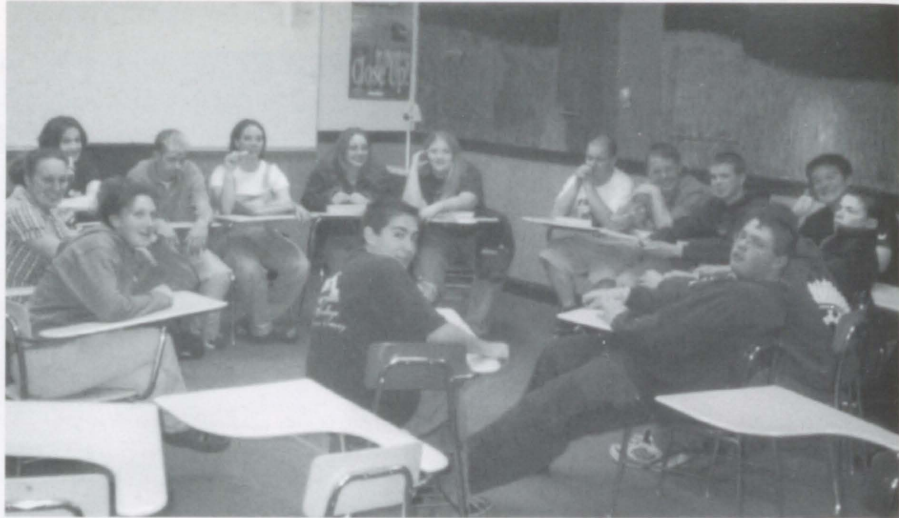

Discussin’ Projects In a huddle, the German students keep their answers confidential from the rest of the class as they plan their group project. Foreign languages are a big part of PHS’s curriculum. It prepares students for the outside world and their futures.

Makin' History

What a year of history at PHS and in America it has been. With a new principle, many new teachers, new counselors and changing traditions, this year at PHS will go down in history and will always be remembered. What is history all about at our school? It is not just about reading and taking tests on a chapter, but getting into the soul of a chapter. Learning about how and why we are here today. Mr. Klinke replies that "history is more than just the research of dry bones. It is the story of peoples lives and experiences that us become better

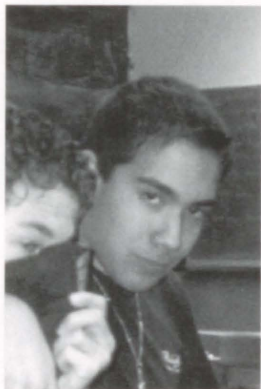

Most of us, of these historical going back to that Gordon dreams of the 60's because of and free love." would enjoy going time because he wants to tame them, ride them, and then eat them. Although those would be cool, Wes Beckstead said that he would like to stay in these days because he wouldn't be able to stand any other time.

Having an autograph from a person from history would be worth a ton! Nikie Galloway said that if she could have the autograph of one person it would have been Michael Jordan, because "he was an awesome man." Alona Sharp replied that she would have gotten the signature of Elvis because it would be worth a lot of money. With all of the corrupt confusion in America about who should be president of our beloved country, PHS sits back, watches, and learns about history in the making for America so that our generation won't make the same mistakes twice. At PHS, history is learned about and loved by all.

Experimentin'

Our district has a great science program and it starts in Mr. Crosland's tiny little room where our tiny little brains expand along with our hearts. When he would teach us of the great wonders of our world, many of us thought of experimenting things on our own or even becoming scientists. Amanda Nelson exclaimed that if she became a scientist, she would study the stars. Taylor Smith would be looking up with her while he studied the moon. Colby Cole told us that he would examine reptiles if he were a scientist because "I like to learn about dinosaurs and how reptiles of Hard, boring, dull, difficult, stressful, and challenging are many of the words that come to mind when teens think of math.

Mary Preheim suggests if you pay attention and learn the concepts math is not very hard. Chris Gamble says that waking up in the morning is harder than math. While Laura Hover thinks that math is hard because it makes people think and most people don't want to think. Sometimes even the teachers make math hard like Mr. Baird when he teaches that numbers aren't real they are only imaginary. That kid completely. For most people it was a monster test that started on math numbers 1-100. For many, when the light just turns on and that one problem finally clicks, it is one of everyone's favorite math moments.

Mr. Baird tries to say symmetry and ends up saying cemetery.

-Natalie Sharp

For Jason Spackman, his moment is finishing his bridge in geometry. For Malia Crosland it is something a little more amusing like when Mr. Baird taught her a quadratic equation using the tune from "Pop Goes the Weasel." At PHS we know that math is an essential part of our lives. Some even use math equations to describe their own lives like Susannah Philbricks equation $\text{Susannah} + \text{math} = \text{nervous breakdown}$ or Kaydee Fryar's; $\text{fun} + \text{stress} + \text{endless energy} = \text{Kaydee}$. We need math in our lives to survive there is not a day that goes by that we don't use math. Just think, if we had never learned math we would be totally lost.

Make Math Easier

These are some of the ways that PHS math classes suggested to make math easier.

- + Staying awake in class
- + Leaving out all the big words
- + Having a tutor
- + Story problems that applied to us
- + More class time discussion

Learnin'

Why do we take an English class? We have taken it our whole school career and we use it every day. Maybe it is for a better understanding of the language from people other than our families. Rather than using short phrases like, "pass the remote" or "get me that, get me this," teachers want us to know more. Our language would change drastically over the years if we all didn't take classes on how to speak correctly. Loosing our language may not be the reason that we take English, it might just be that adults just want to torture us. Who knows?

You can learn one of the English take. Matt Johnson to write well will help him Mike Ahlstrom thinks worth learning: reading, talking well."

Having to take English every school year of your life can get a little on the sleepy side or in other words BORING! Many students have different ideas on how English can be more interesting. Chase Harris came up with the idea that "classes should take more educational field trips." "Watching more movies" is Jade Porters idea to make it a little more interesting and Kenny Glodo has plenty of ideas when he says that "more movies, games, activities, and fieldtrips would help the boring name of English become more looked forward to." You never know, maybe someday they will get rid of the papers, pens, and teachers and let you have class wherever you want, because you could take an electronic course right now on your very own computer. Well until technology catches up with the human mind, the students at PHS will have to live with the great ol' teachers, pens, and papers.

Speakin'

Of the many opportunities at PHS, languages are not numbered. To get into good colleges you have to take at least two years of a foreign language. Many people don't have that on their minds though. Tara Stevenson took French because it is "the language of LOVE." German Chocolate was the reason Andrew Orton took German and Elissa Boer took it because "she has always liked the language and everyone else was talking Spanish." Spanish sounded good to Angela Andrus because, "I think that I will use Spanish more than any other language."

All of the students who take a language, plan on using that language sometime in their lives. For example Jen Hull took French because her parents told her that whatever language she learned, she could visit that country. (Next year she has decided to take Spanish). Yet for others, it may be helping someone understand the language or even getting a good job. For whatever reason that you have for taking a language, it will be worth it.

Gettin' Connected

The Growth of technology has led to many great things. The computer classes at Preston High have helped many students plan their futures in this vast growing business world of technology.

As the richest man in the world and the owner of Microsoft, we asked PHS what they would do if they were Bill Gates. Heather Buys said that she would come up with something totally useless just to see if people would buy it because they thought she was smart. Jennie Parker, on the other hand, is going for her own needs and is going to invent a built in snack bar. There are many from the keyboard to asked PHS students feature they would said that she would be word and excel very smart. Yet, has a different says that she would be

Last but not least, what computer program would you bring to the district of Preston? Ashley Nelson said that she would like a program where you could design your own clothes and get them sized perfectly and delivered in 24 hours. Christi Hansen would have one that would know everything about everyone in the world. But Candy Legos is going for more of a long-term effect when she said that she would bring in a program for kids to be able to get on line and not get into adult sites.

Stressin'

High School is a time of great memories! They are memories that last a lifetime. PHS, many years ago, came up with a way to put all of those great memories into one book. It is called "The Quiver."

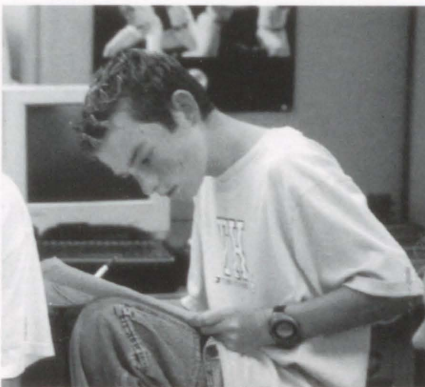

The yearbook staff puts endless hours into this book to make it the best book ever. It can be very stressful at times to try and get your pages done and deadlines in. Valynn Sparrow tells us that when she gets stressed out from yearbook, she takes a deep breath and tells herself that she needs to keep going and not to procrastinate the next time. Ashley Newbold says that she goes and plays sports to get the aggression out and then she thinks of what she needs to do in yearbook to finish her deadline and put it all in order so she can finish in time.

The book gets better and better every year because the longer that you are in it, the better your ideas become. For next year, Shawn Oliverson states that he would come up with better surveys so that he could write better stories. Yearbook is an awesome experience.

Writin'

"Putting your expert writing skills to work" is how Lincoln Nielson describes the Journalism class. In this class you write stories to inform other students about what is going on and putting them all together in our school newspaper. Sometimes in the busy schedules of students they don't get a chance to read the War Cry. Nick Sanchez thinks that "putting more interesting stories in and also writing about what the studentbody is curious about will help." Samantha Harris told us that they "should put it in the bulletin when the paper will be coming out."

This is a great class to decide if you want to go into a career in this field or not. Many students in this class have decided that they want to go into a career that has to do with the skills that they learn being involved with the War Cry.

Sometimes taking a new class can be a little scary, but once you are in the class it usually turns out for the best. Laura Gordon enjoys this class because she "likes to laugh" and she "thinks that it is hilarious when someone makes a mistake and freaks out." Racheal Robinson likes the "learning experience of the class" while many others like this class because it is a constant party.

PHS has some of the most talented and smart people around. A lot of the time, some of these students are involved in a prestigious class called ACA DECA. Mrs. Heers is having a blast with the team this year! They have three returning champions from last year who were true leaders on the team.

Many of the students, who are already in this class, would suggest to you to join if 1. You like bagels and 2. If you are always in the mood to WIN! PHS is always in the mood to win. Sarah Gibby says PHS is going to take home the gold because "we are UNSTOPPABLE," and she was right.

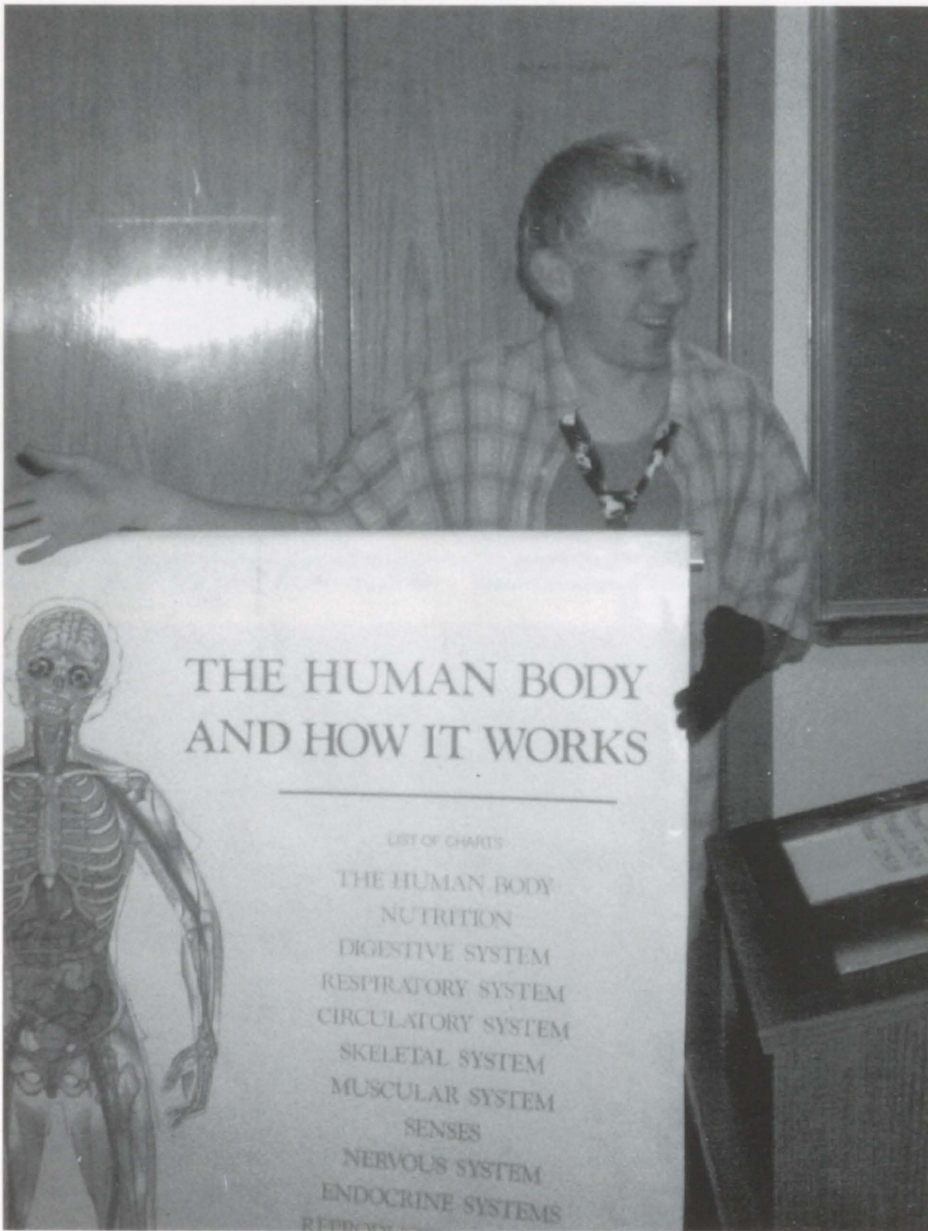

You can make many great memories in this class too. Chris Gamble states that his favorite memory of the class will be, "When they call my name for a medal, and I know that I didn't study for anything." "Playing Rock Jeopardy and Rocking Off for questions," is something that Megan Gleason will never forget. Yet, for many the BEST memory, and feeling, will be when they won the gold metal at State. The ACA DECA team placed first once again at the state tournament. It is a sweet feeling when all of your hard work finally pays off and for the team, it paid off big.

Eating Better

PE, Health, and Conditioning classes give us a better idea on how to live a healthier life.

Below, students comment on how to eat better

- ❖ Free Pit Cookies for more energy
- ❖ Baking food Instead of Frying it
- ❖ Drink more water
- ❖ More time to eat
- ❖ Lower pit prices

Gettin' in Shape

In order to maintain our health and reach our full potential, we need to exercise, eat nutritious, and learn the fundamentals of living a healthy life. We are able to take in all of these elements through the health/physical education program.

We have a lot of role models in our society today. Most of these include athletes that we look up to and admire. Candy Lagos would love to have the talent and ability of Lisa Leslie. While Jessica Colvin really admires Kobe Bryant. We also have our own stars within the school. For instance, Ashlee Newbold would love to be Beth Maseuli, who contributed a great deal to our girl's sports teams this year. Henrichs wishes her sister, who years ago. Among Dominique Dawes, Steve Young, and

In order to achieve your goals in being fit, you must take the responsibility to eat correctly. Rachael Robinson says that she "Brings her own lunch to school from home." Most people agree that PHS does a great job with preparing healthy meals that will satisfy their hunger. Keltsey Marley and Heidi Murphy both agree that "Their needs to be more fruit available at lunch time." Jennie Parker, an avid pit goer, proudly proclaims that "The pit always has a great, healthy lunch."

Whether you enjoy volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, water-skiing, dancing, mud wrestling, or going and working out at the Doc's Gym, there is something for everyone to enjoy as you stay fit and enjoy the healthy things in life. Our programs in this area have definitely helped the students at PHS.

Wood Workin'

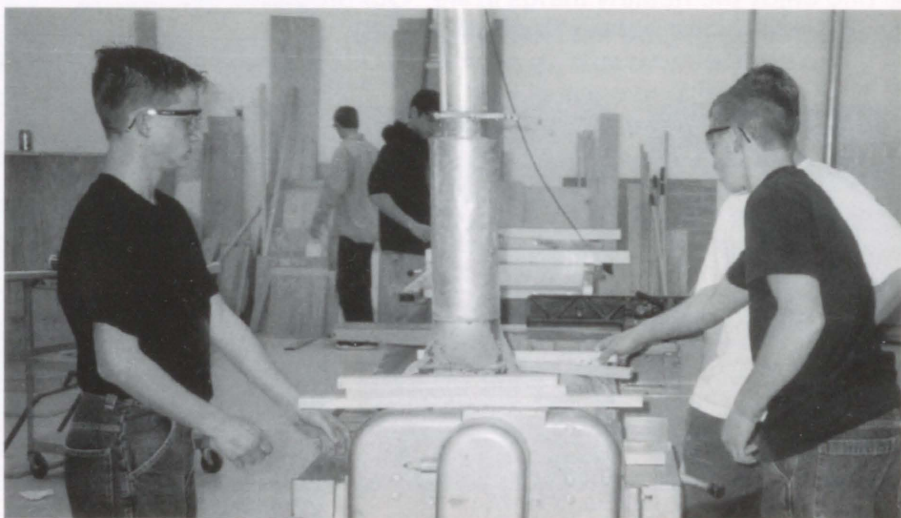

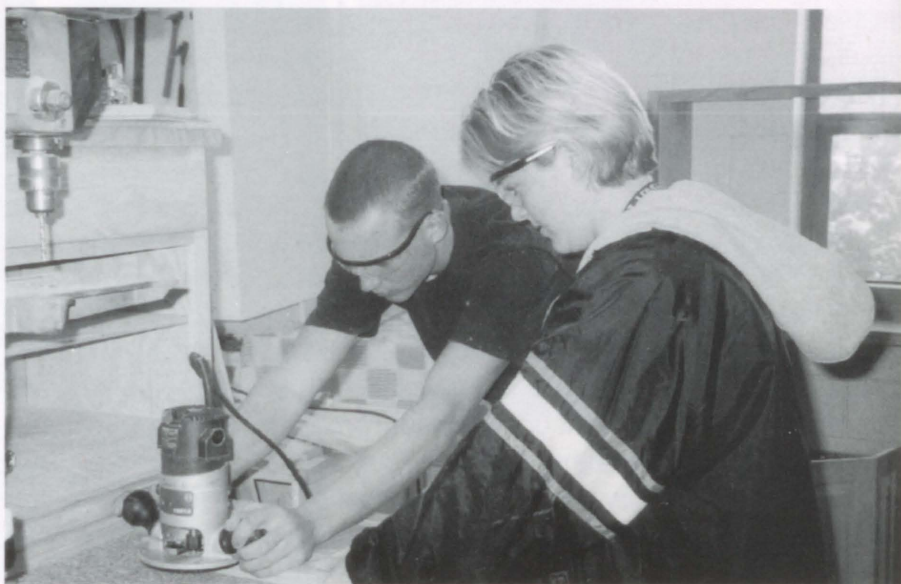

For many of us, this class started in the 7th or 8th grade when we made gumball machines, lamps, and clocks. Making these things usually led to bigger and better things for students.

Wood shop is one of the most liked classes at PHS! Some say it is the teacher, the tools, the great things that you get to create, the fun times, and the memories that you make, but everyone has their own little reason why they got into wood shop.

Of course, the main thing that you work with in this class is wood. What would we do without it? Who knows? Many people describe wood differently. Jacob Harris would describe it as "hard with a tannish color," and another would describe it as "big and rough feeling." Rory Roberts wouldn't need it described because he "would just look at it and see it for himself."

You also get to use different kinds of tools in this class. Sarah Gibby says that the one she likes to use the most is the "miter box." Cody Foster likes the "surface planer" and Josh Kirkbride likes a different type of tool, the "pop machine because it gets him ready for the class." As Jake Higley would put this class, "It gives you time to relax and do things that you want to do."

What's Cookin'

Becoming a responsible adult and caring for your future, are traits that you can learn in the PHS Home Economics Curriculum.

Many students have come and gone, taking Mrs. Erickson's teachings to heart. Nikie Galloway will always remember "having a preschool and caring for the electronic baby." "Making children's activity boxes" is one of Haley Porter's memories, while for Ashley Lindley it was "sewing her pants inside out."

From a class, a person can get their own ideas and needs depending on their wants and wishes at the time. At the time, Kate Moser wants to be able "to cook good meals for her family." Sarah Hover just wants to be "financially stable after high school," while another "wishes just to be a good parent."

There are many other facts of life that this class can teach you. Sam Inglet says that it can teach you all about "the real world." Janae Roper replies that you "can make more at home skills" Katie Wagner states that "you can learn to become an all around better person." Other facts mentioned were child and adult care, sewing, job skills, and managing our resources.

Farmin'

If you want a fun and helpful class, then the PHS agricultural class is for you. "It is a different kind of learning. You learn things that you need in life and that you'll use every day," Dallas Sears describes.

You can learn anything you want in this class from the different types of plants to the different types of animals. We asked PHS if they could become a farm animal from knowing what they've learned about it which one would it be. Alona Sharp stated that she would be a "horse because people don't eat them." Eric Auger would be a "worm because he loves soil."

On the other hand, it's not all about farm animals. You get to work with mechanics, small gas engines, learn about parliamentary procedure, and live stock management. From learning all of these things, you are bound to remember and never forget one thing about this class. Marc Roberts will never forget "when Benjy Hess ate a chewed up piece of meat." Justin Nelson will remember the time when he "got locked in the tool cabinet" and Jake Higley will always remember the people like "Cros and Charlie Turner."

Fixin'

Automobiles are a necessity in the twenty-first century! We would be nowhere without them, that is why they are so fascinating to some.

The auto mechanics class, at PHS, can teach you anything that you want to know about automobiles and how they work. Many students enjoy taking this class. For example, Adam Swann likes "the thrill of making something work again" and for Chase Johnson, it is one of his "long lost loves." Many students use this class by fixing up their own cars, which is one of the reasons why PHS started up the curriculum.

Many say that taking this class is totally worth it because Mr. Roberts makes it very interesting. Another reason why it is fun, is because you get to watch drag-racing. The importance of this class is great! These students might even lead America into the next century where everyone will be driving electric cars or even cars that fly

Creatin'

One question that always strikes a teen's mind is, "WHO AM I." To find out who you are, you have to explore, try new things, and set many goals. Another good way is by expressing yourself in different ways. Take PHS'S art classes for instance. Drawing, painting, sketching and creating sculptures are many ways that you can express yourself. Sometimes doing these things can help a person find their long lost side, a side which they've never seen before. You can dream up anything you want to and put it on a piece of paper. Who knows, it might even help someone else find who they are too.

Finding out who you are is not the only reason for entering this class. For Danielle Peterson, it was to become a better artist. Yet for another, it was just to find out if they could draw or if they couldn't. What ever the reason, art is a great class.

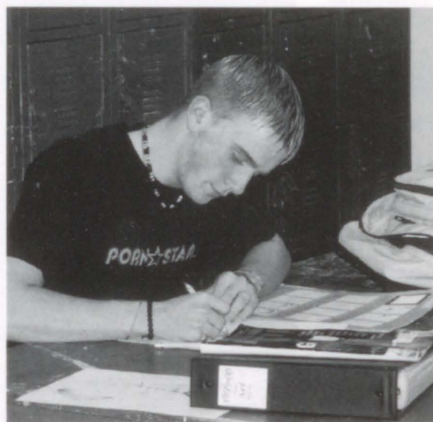

Rachel Cole would give you some advise before you get into this class, "Make sure you keep up on your work so that you don't end up doing 20 sketches in one night." Rachel Golightly states that if you take art, "Put time and effort into all of your work!" It is amazing how one little tool can create something so radiant

Shockin'

The Electronic's group main goal is to make things run again that seemed impossible to fix. The hard thing about that is knowing how to do it. Learning how electronics work so that they can fix car systems and learning how not to get shocked are just a few of the goals that have been set by PHS students for their electronics class.

Learning the skills for this class can be worth a lot in the future. With the rise of electricity going up and the power shortage in California, you could be one of the head guys that everyone would turn to for answers to their problems. From installing a telephone to lighting up the "P" and working with solder kits, this class is a definite benefit for the future.

Your attitude is also important if you want to get the job done. Memories are always made in a class like this one. Chancy Orr will always remember the time when a kid blew up a hair-dryer. Giovanni Crosland won't forget when he put the leads of the multimeters to his ears to see how much resistance his head had. While Adam Swann will always remember Mr. Allred's slang phrase, "What the deal." - Shelley Hart

...5, 6, 7, 8! The 2001 Phi-Dels proved that a lot of hard work, effort, and time was put into each dance as they performed at assemblies, half-times, and competitions at a superior level. Each member of the team was able to contribute their unique personality to become a unified group.

Kaydee Fryar says that she would "because it is a way to combine dancing and school spirit, while giving you self-confidence at the same time. You end up getting at least three good things in one activity!" Torrie Smith agrees when she quotes, "It would be a good experience and it is a lot of fun."

As the end of each school year arrives, a new team is chosen for the next year. Shea Rounds made the decision last year to try out. She was asked why she decided to be a Phi-Del? She made the comment that she "loves to dance and performing is so exciting, yet scary at the same time!"

Being a Phi-Del requires a lot of time and willingness to work together and help each other become the best dancers that they can be. Whether it be precision in their military routine, their character in novelty, or those trademark smiles in the dance category, each movement has been choreographed and endless hours have been devoted to them. It is easy to say that they are a great asset to our school, and will remember their experiences of being a member of the Phi-Del team, forever.

CHEERLEADER EMOION

“GO BIG BLUE!” The life of a cheerleader is very demanding. From practices and decorating lockers to pep assemblies and games, they are constantly showing their dedication to Preston High. According to Mary Preheim, “Going to all of the games and showing a lot school spirit”

is her favorite part of being a cheerleader. Teri Whitehead loves “The adrenaline rush when she stunts” and Heidi Murphy “Loves being with all of the girls.” So why do these girls take so much time out of their lives for the school, Katie Checketts will tell you that “cheering, supporting the teams, and being peppy is so fun.”

Meanwhile, Bracken Ransom would comment that “She wants to try everything and she has already participated on the Phi-Del and Ballroom teams, so this is something else to experience.” Some people also believe in following in the footsteps of older siblings, such as Shayla Lowe. Her sister was a cheerleader and she had always wanted to be one herself.

Being able to pump up the crowd is a major part of cheering. They are responsible in leading the crowd to cheer our teams onto victory. But in every organization, there always have to be a few pet peeves. Sara Burbank says that “Everyone thinks that you are a ditz because of your title.” Debbie Hugie agrees when she admits that her pet peeve is the “Stereo-type that comes with being a cheerleader.” We know that these girls work very hard at cheering, but they also do the same in their school work, as many of their GPAs are considerably high.

When asking if cheering has been a good experience many of the girls will agree that it not only gets you involved with the school, but it also helps you gain more self confidence. The cheerleaders were a great asset to PHS this year and they are greatly appreciated by all.

DANCING AROUND

The ballroom dance team dazzled audiences this year every time that they took the floor. As a ballroom dancer you need to have a lot of skill, precision, and personality. Whether it be the Latin Team or the Standard Team, they all work very hard to be their very best.

So, what exactly made each member try-out for this team? It have been morning It had to have something instance, Stokes team he gets to with all of the women." Maria Seamons attraction was the "hot pink, skater, barbie dresses that the standard team wears." Telene Allred enjoys "the exercise." Other factors, just to name a few, are performing, friends, the actual "dancing" part, and all of the fun that you have.

Advisors are a very important part of any organization. The ballroom team has been lucky enough to be blessed with fantastic ones. Alexis Beckstead and Misty Porter help the teams out tremendously by teaching them and by example.

Everyone on the team seems to have a favorite kind of music to dance to. Erica Colvin loves "jazz." Caitlin Beckstead would choose "fast pop music or swing." If you like to tango, waltz, or anything in between, you may be destined to be a ballroom dancer, but it won't be easy. After they choose the team, many practices are involved, but it will all pay off at the first performance.

The ballroom dance team has been a great addition to Preston High School. Whether they are dancing at a assembly, game, or competition, they always perform their best and at a superior level. Everyone benefits by this organization, the dancers and those who are there to sit back and enjoy.

TUNE UP IT UP

The band has displayed to us, the studentbody of Preston High School, the talents that are overflowing in their organization. Starting off the year with a great marching band in the parade and Homecoming show, they stayed very busy throughout the year. Many concerts were given and the Pep Band was fantastic at sporting events and other activities. They show an abundant amount of school spirit every time that they play our fight song or start an assembly. Whether you just love music, want to carry on a family tradition, or want to get a feeling of satisfaction with yourself, there are tons of good reasons to get involved with this group.

"I would be a trumpet because trumpets rock!"
Amy Bayles

One of the first decisions that you have to make as a band member, is what instrument that you want to play. Jessica Henrichs and Ashley Keller both agree that they chose the "flute because it was the most feminine looking." Erin Hugie also chose the "flute because the way that you put your lips on it makes you a good kisser." David Westerberg chose to play the "trombone because it is a manly instrument, if it is possible to have a manly instrument."

Others find that some instruments represent them in some way or another. For instance, Ashley Kelly would compare herself to a "trumpet because they are loud." Another example is the quote that Michael Ballif said. He would be "a drumstick because it is lightweight, just like me."

Every member of the band has his/her favorite part about it. Logan Hobley likes it because of the "women." What a surprise! Cody Owen quotes that the best part about band for him is "being a part of the Jazz Band." Other favorites are trips, the people, and being able to work on your talents and share them with others.

Preston High's band should be credited for all of their hard work. It has definitely paid off for them and everyone who listens.

SINGING IT OUT

Do- Re- Mi. . . The choirs at Preston High this year have been absolutely remarkable. Whether it be the crystal clear sound of the sopranos and tenors or the deep tones of the lowest bass or alto, they are all a very important part of the total product. That product is a rich harmony that brings a joy to the listener's ear.

A lot of time is spent on learning each note and perfecting the sound of your section. The next step is reward time as you put all of the sounds together to get the finished product.

Many people are in the choir program at PHS. Hannah Higley says that she is in choir because she "likes to sing and it is fun." Amanda Lund quotes that she "is trying to improve on her singing skills." Other reasons for being in choir is all of the fun times that you have as you improve talents, make new friendships, and get to perform at various places.

Choir would never be able to happen without a great and talented conductor and fabulous pianists. This year in the Acappella Choir, Maria Seamons stepped in to fill some big shoes as our accompanist. Rosanna Pitcher plays for the Ladies Ensemble and says that she "enjoys playing for the choir." Many others are also responsible for helping with the piano accompaniment and are to be greatly thanked for all of their hard work and time.

The Ladies Ensemble, the Intermediate Chorus, Jazz Choir, and the Acappella Choir are all to be commended for a fantastic job this year. Whether it be concerts, the musical, competitions, assemblies, trips, or graduation, there is always a great sound and feeling that the choir can contribute to everyone. Preston has always believed that there is no better way enhance your talents than to share them with others. The choirs have kept this tradition going by following in the footsteps of those before them.

Rosanna Pitcher:
"I have never had something embarrassing happen to me in choir, but Mr. Seare has one every day."

ANSWERING THE QUESTION

INEEL helps students show their talent for learning. They compete against other schools to see who is the top. Katy Moses says she likes it because, "We all get along and learn a lot too. The people here are so fun! We are all a big family." McKay Costley says, "It is challenging my brain."

When the INEEL go into competitions some questions just seem impossible to answer. Kevin Kindred thinks it was this question, "What is $3+8$ (exponent of 2) -5 (exponent of x) $+8x+y$?" Jodie Mason said, "There have been "countless amounts of questions that have been impossible." As you can see parts of it are fun and other parts of it are just plain difficult. Nate Fuller truly believes is luck, because every time that he has had his lucky shirt on, they have won. Sometimes it may seem hard, but they still keep up the good work and it shows with all of their accomplishments.

"I like it because you learn and have fun at the same time."

HELPING OUT

Not only does the National Honor Society have fun helping others out, but they get to wear those blue neck pieces at graduation. Most of the members say that is the reason they are in National Honor Society.

The members also learn skills in this club that will help them in the years to come. Nikie Galloway says, "It will teach me to be responsible and work together with others." Nate Fuller said, "It teaches me how to fashionably dress for graduation." That sounds like a pretty good reason to be a member of that club.

Also in any club, the members have their favorite parts to the club. Kaydee Fryar's favorite part is "making the scrapbook as the historian in the presidency." Sarah Gibby, Shanna Jensen, and Lindsey Shumway serve on the presidency as well.

As you can plainly see, the National Honor Society will be remembered for years to come for their service to others.

The Rifle Club is a chance for people to develop a talent and a love for shooting. It takes time and a lot of practice to become a very good shot.

Most of the members of the Rifle team are just there to shoot, but they do other things out to the rifle range besides just shooting. Kevin Isacc said that one of the things they do is "have a party at the end of the season." Ryan Bodily said that another thing they do is, "Go on trips and have rifle matches."

"It's something anybody can do and you don't have to be good at it to begin with."
Ryan Bodily

One thing that is essential to having a good a good time while shooting is having the kind of gun you like to shoot. Mario Mainini says it is his own shot gun and "because it is a good kind of gun and it is expensive." Brandon Knapp says, "22, I like the lever action to it."

As you can see, the Rifle team has quite a bit of fun shooting and competing.

The Bold & The Beautiful

Rosanna Pitcher: "The one thing that helps me to relax, is a full body message from my slave boy, Fernando."

Kevin Kindred: "If I were to make up an award, I would nominate Natalie Foster for the most lethal hair award."

Rebecca Phillips: "If I were to change one thing, it would be to have more school spirit. That would be awesome!"

Nate Fuller: "I'm not any good at actual 'running,' so I thought that I would try running for office instead."

The Executive Council had many successes this year as they pulled together to create a fantastic combination of individuals. Each member has had many unique qualities plus a dazzling personality to add to this team of all-stars. The Exec Council was basically behind every major activity that went on during the year.

Each person on exec had their own roles to fill, but Annette Jensen says that she would compare herself to a "disposal" because she seemed to get all of the leftover jobs that people didn't want. They all agreed that if they had to choose a mother of the group, it would be Natalie Foster. But Chris Gamble would definitely be known as the "King," especially if you were to stop and ask Marybeth Westerberg. They will also tell you that Kevin Kindred was the most likely to be picked on. Whether it was Nate Fuller "beating Kevin with a large stick" or Josh Bell blaming everything on him by claiming that "Kevin did it," he sure took a beating.

The 2000-2001 Executive Council's leadership helped to continue the tradition of keeping the pride at Preston High with a great year.

ASSEMBLIES

SPIRIT WEEK

For Spirit Week there are many activities that students participate in. Natalie Foster, Jana Hatch and Nate Fuller show off their spiffy spirit hats.

HYPNOTIST ASSEMBLY

Tosha King, Katie Fellows, Anthony Hutchins, Joey Perry and Afton Hollingsworth enjoy being on a rollercoaster during the Hypnotist Assembly.

HOMECOMING ASSEMBLY

Rachel Robinson dances with Jed Webster to the theme song "After All" during the homecoming assembly.

LUNCHTIME ACTIVITIES

Hippity Hop, Hippity Hop. The students at PHS participate in sack races while the weather is still warm. These activities occur during homecoming week at lunch time.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

Preston High definitely has some "beautiful" girls in this school. During the Christmas assembly, these "gals", including Nick Hyde, Nick Neeley, Landon Webb, and Blaise Burns, participated in the Miss Christmas Pageant. Competing in interview, presence & composure, it was some tough competition. However, Blaise prevailed and was crowned by the reigning Miss Christmas, Kevin Kindred.

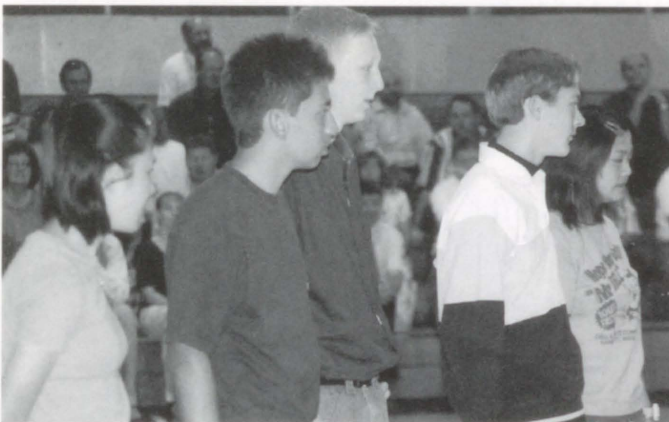

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

Kelly Rawlings, Benjy Hess, Kolby Rawlings, Richie Cromwell and Bracken Fryar are preparing to go out on stage as 98 degrees. These hotties were special guest stars for "The Miss Christmas Pageant" at the Christmas assembly.

OPENING ASSEMBLY

The Executive Council introduces the new students for this year at one of the 1st pep assemblies of the year. The exchange students have become a big part of PHS. They come from every where...from Brazil to Hong Kong.

HOMECOMING ASSEMBLY

During the homecoming assembly, Maria Seamons and Doug Miller sing the theme song "After All" while the royalty joins them on the stage.

HYPNOTIST ASSEMBLY

At the annual Hypnotist assembly, Andrew Titensor used his mind boggling powers to convince these PHS students that there is music coming from their shoes. Anthony Hutchins excitedly shares his musical shoe with Dane's face. Either the music stinks or the shoe does?

GETTING CONNECTED

The tech crew has a lot of responsibility throughout the year, as they are in charge of the sound, lights, and everything else that is involved in any production of the school. It takes a lot of skill to participate in this kind of an organization. Cache Christensen says that he has learned "A lot of leadership skills and responsibility." Janis Larsen has learned with people. "People respect." It is have some every Cameron admits that members learn

"I like being with all the people on the crew. They are great."
Janis Larsen

"How to interact Matt Hunt skills and always nice to seniority in organization. Dockstador "The younger a lot from the older members and everyone learns appreciation and how much work that it really takes to put on a show."

Everyone always has a favorite part of what they do or else there is no way that they would keep doing it. Dan Moses tells that it is "Fun to learn about the new technology that is coming out and to know that it will help out later in life." Everyone on the tech crew has done a terrific job in creating a great setting for all of the productions this year at Preston High. They are to be commended for their precision and dedication to the studentbody and school.

HELPING OUT

This year, in FCCLA, they learned a lot of skills that will help them in their day to day lives and into the future. It is also a club that is all about service and helping other people out. In fact, Beth Bosworth quotes that she "Never used to be into service, but it really makes a person feel great after doing it." Rachael Golightly has also realized that "There are people that do they need, so to give service Another thing that "Even the service can difference in lives," as Kate out to us.

"You need to have some responsibilities to get through life."

-Elizabeth Bodily

probably a lot of not have what everyone ought to the needy." to remember is smallest acts of make a huge other people's Moser points

No club would be complete without an awesome advisor who truly cares about what his/her organization is doing. This is just the case, when it comes to Mrs. Erickson. Almost everyone agrees that she is like a second mother to them. Samantha Inglet sums it all up when she says, "She is always there to listen to us and help us out in any way possible. She takes us in and shows us that she really cares."

This group has definitely benifited from participating in this club.

STATE CHAMPIONS

BOYS & GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

How did it feel to win a State Championship?

Mr Smith: It was wonderful to see the eyes in the kids faces, better then the faces they had given me before.

Deserae Allred: We were lucky, because it was so close.

Mark Moser: Some people have purple hair, but we can run better then them.

Dan Child: A great relief and a rush of adrenaline.

Ryan Aston: A great warm feeling came over me.

Brandi Rasmussen: Felt like I had just woke from a dream.

BOYS BASKETBALL

How did it feel to win a State Championship?

Mr. Pratt: It was a neat experience, satisfying for the boys and the coaches.

Jed Webster: Great to know Wes and me are the best, in basketball and cross country.

Chance Porter: The feeling of a kid waking on Christmas morning.

Jesse Wilcox: We are the kings of the world.

Travis VanOrden: Overwhelmed by the victory.

Blaise Burns: All the years of hard work in the gym had finally paid off.

ACA DECA

How did it feel to win a State Championship?

Mrs. Heers: This year was sweeter because it was closer.

Chris Gamble: It is great to be 'smrt,' the second time is as good as the first. (A direct quote)

Sarah Gibby: It was so intense, we felt great.

Steve Baker: Surge of relief, there was so much pressure on us to repeat.

Sam Allen: Like a hot bowl of chili.

Golf

The best tip you could ever give anyone is to practice, practice, practice. Keep your head down, swing even and follow through. At least these are the tips you could get from the golf team at Preston High School.

Landon Webb would love to go to England and golf because that is where golf began. Everyone else would like to go to Pebble Beach or Augusta, Georgia. They say that it would be a challenge because they have harder courses.

Kristen Fannesbeck's favorite thing about golf is the sound the ball makes when it enters the cup, and that only real men golf so to find a real man she had to golf. Parker Rawlings likes the individuality part. He says that if he makes a mistake then he has no one else to blame than himself. Our golf team has done a great job this year.

Varsity & JV Baseball

RECORD 18-5

The game of baseball has been played for hundreds of years. The game has come along way, with many rule changes. Back when the first leagues started you could hit the runner with the ball to get an out.

Preston's baseball team thought of some more rule changes. Shawn Beardall wants the baseline to be made out of Jell-O so he could have a snack when on base. Allowing home plate collisions is what Chanse Porter wants to see. If a pop up in foul territory is caught, it is not an out, is Taylor Smith's wish. Skyler Thompson wants all fields at least as nice as ours. Austin Hollingsworth's rule change would have three balls and three strikes, while Brady Keller would have the ump's from Preston all the time.

The baseball team did great this year with a 9-1 district record. The three seniors, Nick Neeley, Chanse Porter and Caleb Hopkinson have had outstanding careers in PHS baseball and have helped raise the level of excellence for our program.

Coach Hansen commented, "These guys were the greatest. Very talented players but even better people with great character. I look forward to those returning next year."

What goes through your mind when a pitcher is ready to throw?

"I have to relax and soften my hands to catch the ball".

NICK NEELEY

What has baseball taught you that you will use in your future life as an advantage?

Sh happens! But you have to stay up no matter what.

CALEB HOPKINSON

What has baseball taught you that you will use in your future?

We have to play as a team. You have to depend on others not just yourself.

Varsity Softball

This year the softball teams got a whole new coaching staff. Wade Schvaneveldt -Head Coach; Stephanie Smith- Assistant head coach; Launa Moser-JV coach; Heidi Gardner- Assistant JV coach. The teams adjusted well to the new staff, which helped their year become very successful.

Everyone has a different opinion when asked what the hardest thing about softball is; some say the practice is the hardest while some say it is the hitting. Nikie Galloway says that losing is definitely the hardest thing. Ashley Kelly made a good point when she said that knowing where to throw the ball every play because everyone is yelling something different.

Running around the bases, hitting homeruns and making great catches is fun but apparently not the best part about softball. Kim Poole thinks that the sunflower seeds are the best part.

In perfect position, Becky Shaffer is ready to catch the ball that is being pitched to her. She showed great senior leadership and was a great friend of the pitchers. (Photo By: Amanda Nelson)

Rhonda Priestley keeps her eye on the ball and tenses her face as she prepares to connect with the ball. (Photo by: Amanda Nelson)

Kelly Tobler released the ball with the flick of the wrist and with good form. Kelly did a good job this year and has improved every single game, she will be a great asset to the team next year. (Photo By: Amanda Nelson)

JV Softball

The best because they are yummy and when else do you get to open a bag, put a handful in your mouth and start spittin' like a boy. Heather Hansen likes the "rush" feeling when she does something good.

Everyone likes to hear about embarrassing moments, especially if it isn't about him or her. One time Kelly Tobler lost her grip on the ball while pitching and ball ended up landing two feet in front of her. Ashley Jackson tripped and slid at first base and took out the first baseman. Beth Maseuli got hit in the head by outfielder Kristine Marler.

The main thing that every member on the team will remember is the teamwork. Both varsity and JV played very well as a team and made many friends while chatting, singing and playing games on the bus. It may have taken some a little longer to realize that you can't win ballgames without teamwork but all in all the softball teams accomplished what they wanted this year in return for their hard work.

Varsity & JV Track

Track is a competition of many events. Over the years, track has evolved adding new events and discarding others. The evolution of the sport is in the hands of the competitors, so let's see what some of the track athletes would like to see for future events.

Dean Krumbule said his new event would be, "The Dean." The objective would be to make-out with Dean (girls only) for the longest time. "The Laziest Person with the Biggest Feet Contest," (the objectives are self-explanatory) is what Nate Fuller wants to see instituted. For a refreshing change of pace, how about Liz Olson's "Co-ed Strip Relay." Instead of passing a baton, you would pass an article of clothing. How far could you run holding your breath? That's the question asked by Deserae Allred's "Real Distance Run."

However the sport of track evolves, it is still sure to be one of the most competitive and exciting sporting events.

An Evening Of Elegance

Unity Ball is an evening of elegance. It is where the guys put their baggy jeans and t-shirts aside and the girls throw their flip-flops and capris into the closet. The theme "With or Without You," by U2, captivated the magic of the night. The night was filled with pictures, dinner, dancing, and more.

The couples dance this year was performed by Michelle Porter and Andy Lyon, Ashli Butterfield and Jaron Hatch, and Chantelle Childers and Matt Shumway. The woman behind the scenes, better known as the choreographer, was Rhonda Priestley. She had the dancers doing amazing and original lifts combined with grace and emotion. Autumn Coats, a former member of Preston High, taught the promenade to various couples who performed before the audience at the floorshow. To top off the night before the prom, Doug Miller and Afton Hollingsworth sang the theme song, which was arranged by Rosanna Pitcher and Dan Child.

Because prom is one of the most important events of the school year, people look forward to it and plan for it months in advance. Finding unique ways to ask and answer that special someone can be very difficult, but it is well worth it. For the seniors, it was one of the last events that they would participate in before the big graduation day. For others, it was simply a memorable night that will live on in their hearts forever.

Two for Me, None For You! What better opportunity could Kaydee Fryar ask for. Here, a photo is taken with her date Seth Haslam, who happens to be the newest National Scholar Athlete recognized by the National High School Football Hall Of Fame, and Tony Woolf, Preston High's next Student Body President. It is no question why she is smiling!

Tony Woolf & Kate Moser

Oh Look, It's The QUEEN!!

Maria Seamons was named the prom queen during the floorshow on Friday night. By the looks of it, she has been practicing puckering for her date.

And Your Unity Ball Royalty is... At the Unity Ball assembly, the royalty was presented to the studentbody. Tony Woolf, Kate Moser, Ethan Lucia, Malia Crosland, Josh Bell, and Maria Seamons can't wait for the announcement of who will reign over the prom as King, Queen, Prince, or Princess. Meanwhile, they give the crowd their best smile.

5, 6, 7, 8 Ready, Set, Lift Matt Shumway and Chantelle Childers prepare for one of the most challenging lifts in the couples theme song dance.

In a ripple effect, Andy Lyon and Michelle Porter are finished with their lift and Jaron Hatch is showing his strength by proving to Ashli Butterfield that she is lighter than air in his arms.
