IT TAKES ALL KINDS.....

IT TAKES ALL KINDS to make up the studentbody of PHS. We have artists and athletes, bookworms and auto mechanics, computer whizzes and choir members, drummers, dancers and cheerleaders. Each of them fit together like pieces of a puzzle. There are people with glasses and braces, short hair, long hair, no hair. Every year, the diversity of PHS widens. This year, we have six exchange students, bringing diversity from all over the world. All of us are preparing to be world citizens as we bridge the gap, accept and celebrate the differences in each other. After all, IT TAKES ALL KINDS!!

Carrie Moosman and Kellie Winward are engaged in some kind of "detective work." It makes you wonder exactly what they are doing—dressed "undercover" at the carnival. The carnival week brings friends together perhaps the first time during the summer. (Photo by Laura Phillips)

... Summer .....

Pay To Use The Bathroom!

Seven members of the French Club traveled in Europe for two weeks this summer. Believe it or not, most of them will admit they did get homesick. "I missed bathrooms you don't have to pay for!"

-Mrs. Walker. Chris Crockett replied, "I missed the mountains, until we got to Switzerland, then there were too many!" Ginger Chadwick was hit with motion sickness, "I threw up on the bus to Switzerland, and it almost landed on Dawn's head!" Some members of the group experienced culture shock, Chris Johnson noted, "Everyone in Europe dressed like Trevor Jensen!" Scott Bosworth had something else in mind, "I would go back to our hotel in London and beat the #@!?! out of the maids who stole my CD player!"

Princess Diana's royal mansion.

Joseph Dryden chooses the milder ride

Caution - Weak Stomachs!

If you are looking for a place to test the strength of your stomach, then The City of Fun Carnival is the place for you. Cody Talbot enjoys riding "The Trabant-because it's more ride for your money." Ben Steele might admonish you to stay away from the carnival. After one too many caramel apples and a few rides on the Ring Of Fire, he lost his lunch! It is the carnival workers that attract Jason Sparrow to the exciting event. "I think they add to the image of Preston."

♦ Scott Bosworth is a regular "Mary Poppins" when it comes to feeding the birds. He poses as a human tree in Venice, Italy. Perhaps Scott should consider opening a bird aviary in the future. (Photo by: Italian stranger)

♦ The look on Nathan Bradfield's face could mean one of two things either he is having a hard time controlling that feisty pig, or he is tired of a certain photographer following him around! (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

♦ Thank-heavens for Back-to-School bargains! Keri Hinkley, Cindy Gibby and Julie Satterlee head out for one last night on the town before school starts. (Photo by: Emily Gibby)

EATIN' IT UP

What is it that makes students return to the basement of PHS day after day for lunch? Could our school cafeteria really be that great? Ami Wilcox is attracted to the pit because it provides "A full stomach and good conversations with people who are not afraid of pit food." Other students appreciate the simple decor of the pit- striped curtains and food pyramid posters. It might be the "pit staff's" fine service or your choice of skim, 1%, 2%, skim, whole or chocolate milk that attract so many.

Jill Griffith would like to make her own rules in the pit, "I hate the rule about no food fights! We should be allowed to have one at the end of every term." -Fat chance Jill!

"I think the pit should be opened year-round, I seriously would eat there during the summer."

- Tyra Leonard

Keri Hinckley would like to, "Make it so the lunch ladies could come out and eat with the students, then we would become friends on a more personal basis."

Although the menu changes daily, there is one special day at the pit. It comes around once every three weeks-CHILI DAY! David Nelson knows all the tricks when it comes to chili day. During seminary, he asked to use the bathroom, where he used his cellular phone to excuse himself five minutes early for lunch. Kevin Gilbert nominated David "pit-goer" of the year. Scott Bosworth left future pit eaters a great bit of advise, "Eating in the pit will add ten years to your life-fifteen if you avoid the pork pizza!"

♦ Jamen Henderson, Pace Jepsen, Shelby Schvaneveldt, Colin Olson and Rose Swann found an exciting new use for cardboard! They used it as a sled and rode down the stairs on it. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

The Exec. Council pulled off two exciting tailgate parties during football season. According to Brian Phillips, "The highlight of the party was Jared Hess's uni-brow was singed while lighting the grill!" Mike Holt and Jason Cox entertained the crowd by juggling various food products, while listening to music by Twisted Sister.

Hall Traffic Patrol?

Some days, just getting to your class in five minutes is an aerobic workout! "AAHHH," you scream as you shove your way through the masses of people. Some students have suggestions for controlling the hall traffic. "The district should hire Helen Harris to be a hall patrolman. She could give out prizes to those who were obeying the rules." -Brooke Hart. Jeremy Gamble has all the answers, "The school board should make it legal to sluff, it is the most economical answer because no one could complain about spending the tax payers' money!"

Spirited Students!

The students of PHS display their school spirit in many different ways. Becky Child can not only cheer the loudest, but is also well known for doing the "banana jump." Members of the volleyball team showed their pep by sporting football jerseys during home games. Some students were kept outside the game, due to a lack of activity cards and cash. They were so desperate to get in, they scaled the fence, ripping their pants in the process.

EXCHANGING

Imagine being thousands of miles away from everyone that you know, and no one you meet with speaks your language. Every time you turn around, you discover a new rule or custom you weren't aware of. This insanity isn't going to end for an entire year!

This may sound tough, but there are six students at our school this year that are definitely up to the challenge.

They are the foreign exchange students: Flavio Freitas from Brazil, Felix Roy and Daniel Ziglowski from Germany, Eri Hirao and Keiko Hosoya from Japan, and Yong Liu from China.

When asked if she likes America, Eri exclaims, "I love, I love!" Felix says all the sweets available in America are a definite bo-

"There are so many sweet things in America. My mother in Germany would never let me eat so much!"
Felix Roy

nus. "My mother at home would never let me eat so much!" The only bad thing about Idaho in Flavio's opinion is that there's no surfing, and Daniel thinks it's the fact we drink rootbeer. "It tastes like medicine!" he says.

Everyone agrees that the American school system provides more variety and opportunity for fun, although not as much work is required. "I'm getting the best grades I've ever gotten in my life," Felix exclaims.

Sometimes not knowing English perfectly is embarrassing. In Germany, the English word for toilet is closet, so Felix says, "I was pretty confused when my host mother told me to put my clothes in the closet." There is truth to the statement, "It takes all kinds!"

There are various reasons to play football. Tyson Moser claims that there is no greater rush in the world. Working off his belly is Ryan Bell's main reason. For Brock Williamson it allows him to take out his frustrations on other people. Ted Andra's reason summarizes what football is all about, "I like to hit, get up in pads and hit."

Football is a game of hard hits. According to PHS players landing that hard hit on someone is sweeter than... "The New York Yankees winning the World Series." "Strawberries and bananas in the pit." "Mom's chocolate pie" and "Grandma's apple pie." And guess who said it is sweeter than "Megan's lips!"

When you are the one who receives that hard hit, what does it feel like? Ben Heusser commented, "A crash test dummy."

In the world of sports, heroes are common among participants. PHS players had a couple of them. Several players spoke of Cameron Woolf. "He stuck it out and didn't quit. He always kept coming back, like the energizer bunny." Others talked of Coach Gamblin. "He taught us about life and improving our football game. He was our motivation. He did everything he could to help us win."

Injuries:

An unfortunate part of athletics is the injuries that can occur. Tate Bowles, Freshman running back (at right) broke his arm but plays anyway with a cast on his left arm.

Lots & Lots of Money:

Participating in athletics can be quite a hardship on a student's (or parent's) funds. In polling some of the Fall sport athletes, here is a look at some of the yearly expenses that they incur in playing athletics:

- Josh Anderson $225 for shoes.
- Boyd Roberts $325 for summer camps.
- Road game lunches/dinners = $175.
- Kellie Kingsford $500 for camps.
- Sam Stocks $75 for shoes.
- Andy Hansen $100-150 for road game lunches and dinners. Shoes = $220.

Off to a great start:

The Varsity football team got off to a great start winning their first game against South Freemont. It had been 7 games since they last won a game.

Massage:

A ball massage is very favorable to the volleyball team members. Winners are usually the ones that get to enjoy the massage courtesy of the team who lost.

Across the Country:

To run cross country you have to be very dedicated. On the average cross country season you'd run about 420 miles. If you were wondering, it would be like running from Preston through Utah and on into Arizona.

Time, money, and most importantly love. No, this is not describing the factors of having a boy/girl friend, but ask any athlete and they'll tell you that you need to have a lot of these few elements to be successful at your sport.

First of all, time. Take into account all the practices, road-time, and actually playing, the Preston High Volleyball team spends approximately 297 hours per season of Volleyball. How do you find time for homework? Well Gina Lee, whose GPA is 3.86, said, "I have no idea!"

Each player on the team spends an average of $654 a year on camps, shoes, road-game lunches and dinners, activity fees, uniforms, gas money for parents support, and anything else that relates to volleyball.

Whats love got to do with it you ask? Well its simple, "you can't dedicate this much time and money without loving it," according to Tyra Leonard. Heather Jensen went on to say, "You don't want to be stuck playing something you don't love to play." Erica Olson commented, "You can't spend 3 1/2 hours a day doing something you don't love."

What does it feel like when you make that great dig? "Getting to the toilet in the nick of time," said Erica. "Ouch," commented Stephanie Stevenson. Kellie Kingsford stated, "A new bruise is coming!"

My ritual is to sleep in my uniform the night before, and put on long fake fingernails

When it all comes down to it, there are two kinds of people in the world: Those with superstitions and those without.

Many people aren't superstitious, but then there are those who insist on doing their same routine before every cross-country meet. And if they don't they turn phsyco and lose it for everybody.

A few of the superstitions from Cross Country team members are quite extreme. Crystal Golightly said, "My ritual is to sleep in my uniform the night before, and put on long fake fingernails." Then Carson Campbell believes it is better to be safe than sorry so he doesn't wear his socks.

Setting CROSS COUNTRY The Pace

Whitney Ransom is quoted on her words, "I always wear my blue and white boxer shorts underneath the uniform. Then I eat poptarts before the race, and go over it in my mind."

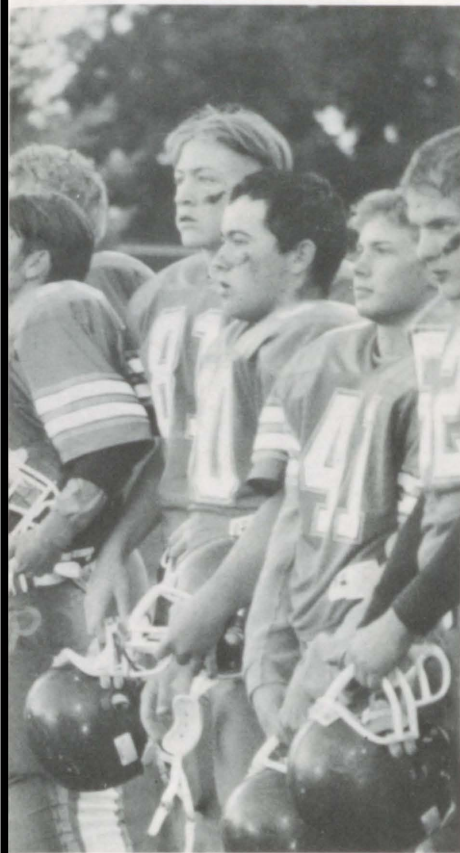

Joe Steele say's he consults the Silver. Kevin Womack commented, "I always wear my lucky socks, but I don't think it matters because half the time they don't help." Jeremy Rawlings just does whatever. These are all very creative things to do, but one thing is puzzling. How in the world can long fingernails, bare feet, poptarts, consulting Silver, or socks make you run any faster?

Invasion of Eagles

New coaches were a plenty in the football program this year. Coy Pratt and Robbie Gunter (ex-Marsh Valley Eagles) came South to join the Preston Indian staff as JV coaches.

Out for another season

After only playing 3 games last year, because of a torn shoulder ligament, Cameron Woolf went down again. Four plays into the season he broke four bones in his hand and three pins were placed in it to repair it.

Awesome Volleyball

The varsity and the J.V. volleyball teams both went to a Twin falls tournament. The varsity took it all winning over 16 teams including A-1 schools. The J.V. beat 7 other teams.

Clowning around:

With a horse trailer and horses, the Rodeo club isn't clowning around. Every club at PHS has clowns. The Rodeo club had three, Jason Jardine, Colter Sears, and Sam Stone. They all dressed up like bull fighters for the HC parade.

A R T

What do you see when you picture an artist? Maybe someone like Emalee Johnson. When she was asked her favorite things to draw, she stated boldly "Naked People." Danny Noyes displayed his creative genius by painting on an ostrich egg. Do you ever have homework in art? "Of course you do, but there is no boring work in art class. Homework is actually fun." Danny Noyes.

What does art mean to Caleb Larsen? "An artist can take a paper and pencil and draw their moods, and things that they like."

When it comes to art, Mandi Morrison and Sharee Welch really disagree. Mandi said, "People are definitely the hardest to draw." Sharee replied "People are my favorite to draw. Nothing is ever hard to draw; you just don't try."

They practiced the dance, that was choreographed by Kim Hobbs, every morning for two weeks. They presented it at the assembly and at the floorshow.

Waged War!

Friday night the PHS football team waged war on the Marsh Valley Eagles. A game the team had been preparing for, for a long time. The whole game was very intense, the fans yelling, cheering, and everyone was pumped. McCoy Smith said, "The feeling you get is something you can only get if your on the field! It is very exciting, your adrenaline is very high!" The end of the game had PHS on top 21-6.

"Sacrifice your Socks"

The sock pull? This was the question running through many student's heads before lunch on Tuesday. Many kids from each class meet during lunch not so sure what they were getting into. After it all started people were trying to rip the socks off anyone that they could get to, literally! As you can see poor Jeremy Rawlings is no match for Kris Atkinson's sock pulling abilities! The competition got extremely rough! Brian Phillips said, "I almost had to jump in and pull a couple of kids out before they took someone's leg off, too!" Many students lost their socks or had very little sock left after the great sock pull came to an end!

NO hall Pass!

The A Capella choir was given special permission to roam through the halls without a hall pass! Of course it was to sing the Alma Mater, but it still is a sure record! The choir has over fifty members that walk down every hall in the high school. Homecoming week is not the only week they serenade the students, they also walk through the halls singing Christmas songs. Singing the Alma Mater through the halls has been a tradition for more than twenty-five years!

Who Said Pit Food!

Wednesday's lunch time activity was gastomical! The Munch-Out made more than the contestants sick to their stomach. For the Munch-Out a member of each class was asked to imbibe an entire pit meal, blended appetizingly together. The Seniors were in the lead until, unfortunately, Billy Swann threw-up allowing Joey Larsen, freshman, the victory. Jared Abrams commented, "The Munch-Out was my favorite lunch time activity. I was amazed anyone could eat that stuff, I can hardly eat normal pit food!" The Munch-Out was a success, it's sad that two of the four contestants went home sick later that day!

Indecent Exposure

"Head Wear?!"

Many students showed how protective they could be Monday on helmet day. There were all types of helmets; motorcycle, football, high tech Atari playing, as Mike Holt and Jason Cox wore. Anything and every type of helmet were acceptable, "You have to protect your noggin' well!" said Danny Noyes, who wore a medieval soldier helmet.

True Identities!

Do you have a true identity you only bring out once in a while? Well, many students at PHS showed their true selves Tuesday on Nerd Day! Carrie Moosman said Nerd Day was her favorite dress up day because, "It fit my character and I transformed in one hour!" Joanna Fullmer shows a little bit of her true self! Check out all her accessories! A very controversial subject was the Junior Powder Puff team, that just happened to wear the shirts that represented their team on Nerd Day! The Seniors took full advantage of this!

Indecent Exposure - Amen!

The Powder-Puff cheerleaders provided as much entertainment as the game itself. Their attire was both original and provocative. "That thing Flavio was wearing-INDECENT EXPOSURE!" Exclaimed Adrienne Stewart after viewing Flavio's leopard negligee. The cheerleaders had their usual fights, but by games end, the two squads made peace with one another!

Just A Game

"Fro Day" or just a Headache!

Thursday, students were able to travel to the past for "Fro Day." Comments such as this were heard all over the school, "I have a headache already!" "How did you get your hair to stay like that?!" Ruth Garvis models her fro, I'd stay away from that one! You probably wouldn't dare touch someone's fro, for fear your finger might get lost or stuck! A few students went a little overboard with the Aqua Net!

PHS gets pumped!

The student body decked themselves out in the mighty blue and white Friday for that evenings big game verses the Marsh Valley Eagles. There was paint on just about every visible part of the body for some students, blue and white clothes, painted hair, faces, arms, legs, example Flavio Freitas. To show their spirit many students continued wearing our school colors to the Homecoming game!

Just a game, or a battle!

Some will use the cliché, "It's only a game!" However, valiant Junior and Senior women participating in the annual Powder Puff battle may disagree. Weeks of hard work by everyone involved culminate in the upper-class rivalry. The close-scoring game ended with a disappointing loss for the Juniors. Valerie Inglet's last chance pass into the endzone was incomplete, leaving the class of 1997 a 28-24 victory!

G E R M A N

Members on the German Club consider partying to be an essential part of life. Many are in the club because they are taking German for a language. Keri Hinckley's favorite word is "Schon", because she likes the way it rolls and dribbles off her tongue.

The members have a hard time getting along and will admit most of their meeting are spent feuding with each other. One thing they can definitely agree on is that the club members Felix, Daniel, and Miss Jensen were the ultimate German Idols.

Red Rover & Fag Tag:

Even smart people can party! The members of the National Honors Society, displayed this at their opening social, held at Benson Park. They played red rover, and fag tag. "I just ran around in circles trying to catch someone, but never did," said Christina Westerberg.

Party Animals:

The FCYL club is one of the most active in the school. They played games, watched movies, and ate great food during their opening social. For their service project, they raked the leaves in front of the high school. Advisor, Mrs. Erickson has built a wonderful program.

Horse Judging

FFA went to the Blackfoot Fair and participated in judging livestock. Those that judged the horse section scored the best.

Can't Wait for THE WEEKEND

"I get up early to watch Saturday morning cartoons!"

"THANK GOODNESS IT'S FRIDAY!!" This is a common phrase we all utter from time to time. When school is out for the weekend what is there to do- especially in a town with one stoplight? "I try to visit the 24-hour copy center every Friday night." -Emily Gibby.

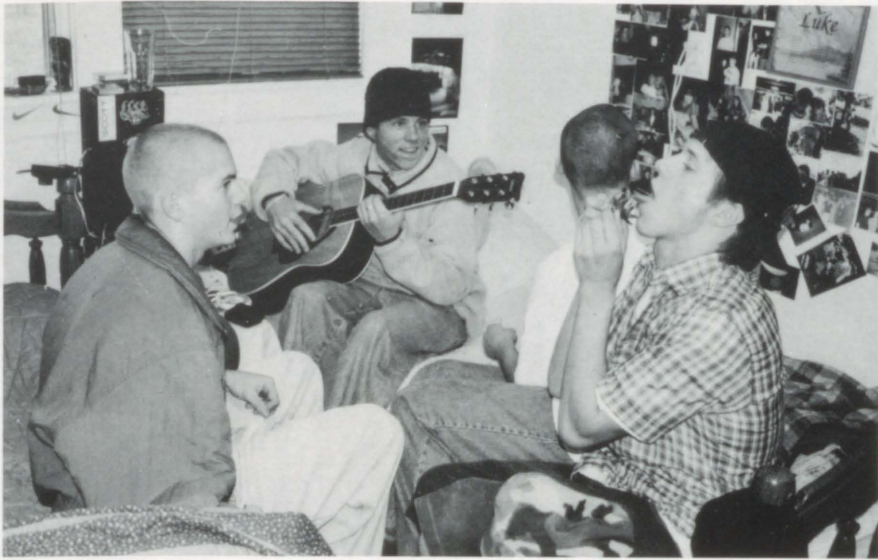

Many of us enjoy sleeping in until late hours of the day, then staying up all night, partying the rest of the weekend. Toni Hull had a different idea, "I get up early to watch Saturday morning cartoons."

When Heath Daley isn't moving chickens at Ritewood, he entertains himself by playing with He-man and Starwars action figures. Man, some people never grow up! On the other hand, Jill Durrant is devoted to her school work, "I spend my weekends studying!"

STUDENT LIFE

October .....

ACT BLUES - Try a banana!

Unfortunately, the dreaded day of the ACT arrives sooner than we want it to. Relax, it's just a test! In preparation for the test, eat plenty of brain food, bananas to be exact! Bananas are high in potassium, and therefore help the brain function better. If you don't like bananas, perhaps you should consider giving the yellow fruit another chance-for the sake of your ACT score!

Deer-Slaying Season!

October marks the beginning of the greatest Fall event in the minds of many students and teachers alike. It's hunting season! Obsessive deerslayers such as Josh Sanchez take hunting to the extreme. He skipped an entire week of school, hunted seven days, and all he shot was a squirrel!

Sugar High!

Many students look forward to Halloween for one reason - THE CANDY. Smashing pumpkins is also a traditional activity associated with Halloween!

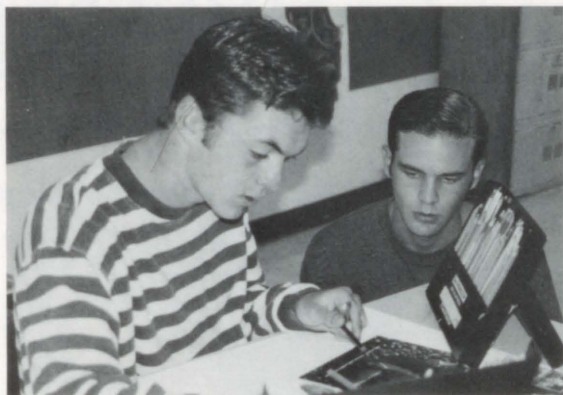

Crystal Clements and Dustin Ayote dress up.

The Joy of Standardized Testing!

What an exciting day it was when the taps test was administered. Some students found interesting ways to entertain themselves through the long and boring process. Lynn Ward wasn't too interested in the test. She entertained herself and others with the ever-popular Laffy Taffy jokes. Gus Colin was so fed up with the test that he decided to take a nap. He woke up when his head hit the desk.

SIBLING RIVALRY

AT PHS

All of us have experienced sibling rivalry, especially at home. But can you imagine having brothers and sisters right here at school nagging, embarrassing and annoying you? Forty-one percent of students at PHS have one or more siblings going to school with them. This experience is bittersweet for most.

According to Dani Bowles, "You can't do anything without them finding out!" Brooke Christensen speaks of her sister, Britny. (Incidentally, they have a difficult time getting along.) "When I like a guy, she decides she likes him too. She hates me because I hang out with him. I feel like I have 'eyes' watching me-like I'm in a concentration camp!"

All siblings are engaged in a well-known sport, fighting! "It's fun and it shows power. Usually we fight about who's in charge when my parents are gone," commented Annette Gleason.

"You can't do anything without them
finding out!"

Kellie Winward made an interesting comment, "We fight to cause our parents pain and anguish. We are united against them, fighting about anything we possibly can!!" Who would have thought??

Holly Martin and her brother Brooks can't even stay in the same room together. "Well, we used to enjoy playing Barbies, but not lately. We don't enjoy anything. We're lucky if we can sit in the same room without drawing blood," says Holly.

Contrary to popular belief, there are advantages to having a sibling at PHS. "I'm glad Cameron is around to help me with my homework," replies Margett Woolf.

"Sometimes, Alison helps me escape from class," noted Melissa Cole. In spite of all the short comings of our siblings, most of us will reluctantly admit that they really aren't that bad.

The name...volleyball, the game...volleyball. Mr. Webster defines it as: a team sport in which the object is to keep a large ball in motion, from side to side over a high net. When he said it was a team sport, he was definitely right. Being close is a vital part of the game. Sara Fuller said the team bonds when "we all sit together on the back of the bus and talk about 'stuff.'" Tyra Leonard claims "Oh heck

"We're a team and it's fun to be together, because we all have the desire to win."

- Stephanie Stevenson

Bump Set VOLLEYBALL SPIKE

ya! We're like family. If I died at an early mid-life age, I would leave my children to the 1996 Volleyball team to love and care for." Janelle Moser commented that, "We are all good friends and we play well together." Sherri Burbank commented, "I don't think anybody got into fights, we were all friends."

District Volleyball FUN:

The volleyball rivals from Bear Lake were not only shut down once but twice at the district volleyball tournament. After Preston lost at home in a devastating way the Indians showed the Bears the smart time to win, at district.

What the seniors think:

This years seniors have already paid the price. Many of them have worked hard for six long years, and though they've played their last season, each of them will take something with them. Senior Cameron Woolf thinks the most important thing he'll have learned is that "hard work and dedication are the keys to success. I will have learned that you need to trust your teammates in order to successfully do your job on the field." Dawn Schaneveldt said, "I have learned to be a leader and that you need to be united as a team in order to be successful."

Meet	Boys	Girls
T. Falls Invitational	6th	11th
Preston Invitational	1st	1st
West Side	2nd	4th

First Loss:

The Varsity volleyball team started October off to a bad start by losing their first game in the regular season to Cokeville.

Wagon Wheel - Back Home:

The football team brought back the wheel after beating Bear Lake 31-7 in an emotional game. Due to the loss of defensive line coach, Bill Gamblin, the team was not only fighting Bear Lake, but their feelings the first half. They came back after a different team the second half and dominated.

The Comeback Kids:

Snake River came to Preston ready to fight, and the score before halftime lit up at 24-6 for the Panthers. Coming from behind the Indian J.V. football team won 31-30.

Who's the favorite competition?

"Soda Springs, cause we waste their trash!!"

- Russell Woodward

"Snake River, they always try to fight."

- Joe Steele

"Grace, I have a friend there."

- Jeremy Jensen

Basketball, football, volleyball, hockey, ping-pong....chess! Whatever the sport, the player must always focus and plan out their next move. But here at Preston High there is a fall sport that doesn't require quick thinking.

During a Cross Country race there is plenty of time to reminisce the past, predict your future, or worry about pollution and nuclear war. So what do the enduring runners of Preston think about? Carson Campbell thinks "The faster I run,

The
faster
I run
sooner
I'm done!

Run Faster
Cross Country
Run Longer

the sooner I'm done!" The only thing Mike Parker's mind can tell him is to "GO! GO! GO! GO! GO!" never ending. SunDee Johnson sings hymns and primary songs like "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam." And then there is Kelly Mather, he can only "wish the race was done." Well, it probably doesn't really matter what they think about, but it's nice to know they're thinking!

"Getting Bigger, Faster, Stronger, and a larger winning attitude."

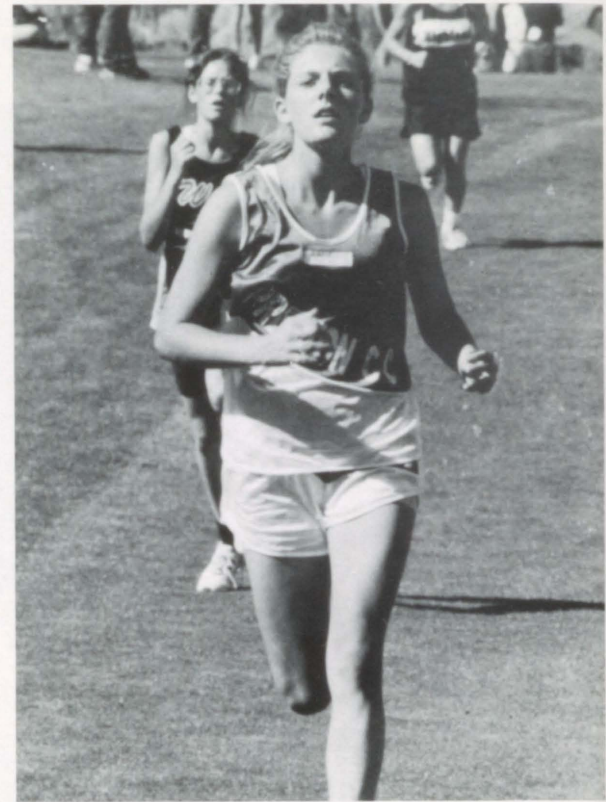

This month was a heartbreaker for the football team, with the loss of one of their coaches. They started with the traditional wagon wheel game against Bear Lake. They forgot about their loss and won the game.

The football team stayed together through the rest of the month. They ended the regular season with a win against American Falls in the snow putting them in a tie for second place.

On the last day of the month they went to the Holt Arena for the State Playoffs and came home with a disappointing loss.

Now, other than the seniors, players can work for next year. The off-season to many of the football players isn't a time to rest but an opportunity to work and push harder than ever. Next summer Brock Williamson plans on getting "Bigger, Faster, and Stronger, and a larger winning attitude." McCoy Smith felt he earned his playing time by "Working hard at practice, I always did the best I could." Scott Fellows is going to "lift weights, run, and get mean" to prepare. And when next season rolls around, Jon Gleason can't wait to "Make fun of the Freshman."

A Special Coach - Bill Gamblin:

Every so often a person comes into our lives who makes a very positive impression. Although, Coach Gamblin was only with us for a little while, he made an impression that will last forever. Coach Gamblin expected hard work. The Hogs were the earliest to practice and worked very hard. He expected you to give your all and then another 100%. If you didn't do that, he would get in your face and tell you. That is why he was considered to be such a great motivator. He could make you do things you never dreamed you could do.

Coach Gamblin gained a lot of respect while coaching at PHS. He had a lot of knowledge for the game and for life. He said the things which he thought would serve us throughout our lives. Coach Gamblin started the Royal Order of the Hogs. In order to get in we had to read the Hogs Law and then sign it. At the end of the law it says, "The Hogs are tusk and will never die!" Coach Gamblin was a true hog and his impression on our team will never die.

Church ??:

What could be better than fall VICA leadership conference in SunValley? Doug Sharp could think of many of things. "It was like a ton of sacrament meetings in a row." Most importantly though he learned how not to hold his head while sleeping.

Soils:

FFA participated in "soil judging" or testing the soil to see what areas are better for crops. Chaseon Kirkbride, a member of the competition team, was bested by Luke Geddes (who was not even on the team.) Boyd Roberts took first place.

Check Pinchin':

Something was definitely wrong when Mr. Seare said, "Turn to your neighbor and pinch their cheeks." "The perky side of Mr. Seare is something we don't see to often," said Allie Petterborg. During class Mr. Seare created some excitement for his A Capella Choir.

GOOD HANDS

"Is it the Good Hands club or the Good Butts club?" Kellie Winward playfully asks. She thinks it is both because they all have GOOD BUTTS too. Although most of the members don't think the name should be replaced, they like it the way it is. Robert Larsen said, "I think the name is cool!"

Amber Murdock is very dedicated to the service club. When asked how much time she practices she replied, "I eat, sleep, and drink sign language. I have made signing my life." Rose Swann views the club and the skills she has learned as something that will benefit us and others if we use it." Julie Owen says, "It is not your ordinary club, you can use what you learn. The three years I have been in there I have never repeated the same activities."

SunValley:

The Quiver took a trip to SunValley for a convention. They had meetings to get new ideas, and had a relaxing time away from school. While eating at (Smoky Mountain Pizza) Scott Bosworth mixed Mt. Dew and Pink Lemonade for a surprising new taste. He took a sip and said, "It's like a party in my mouth and everyone is invited." Then Christina Westerberg jokingly tried to get BEER from the waitress but she asked for ID! That spoiled her whim of an energetic idea for some fun! While staying in the lodge, often you would find Tami Moser locked out of her room, she always claimed that the key was retarded, not her.

"It's guts, love and glory, one mortals chance at fame. His legacy is rodeo and cowboy is his name."

Is it a rough tough fur riding event? Well, not exactly. "Crawl on a buckin' horse or a snot blowing bull and hang on for dear life and enjoy the biggest adrenaline rush you'll ever have. That's what rodeo's all about," Sam Stone explains.

Who needs luck when they have skill? Gary Combs sure does. He can't compete without his trusty ol' hat. Brooke Christensen wears a chain she had on the first time she won a queen contest.

"I just cross my fingers and hope I do good. It gives me a goal to break my own time, and responsibility to improve myself," says Kalani Bowman. For Heidi Andersen, "It's a good reason to keep my grades up."

"Through all the ropes and the reins, the joy and the pain, they still call this thing a rodeo."

SPANISH

When Brooke Hart joined the Spanish club, she had one thing in mind "Fiestas!" Along with the Fiestas, comes the sombrero. Vince Castillo joined the Spanish Club because, "I felt needed." Victor Castillo would like "to paint a sombrero and hang it on the wall as abstract art." Who knows, maybe he could sell it for some big bucks someday! Beth Smith said she would "use a sombrero for an el Bano, a toilet!"

Other great things about the Spanish Club include the food. Ian Tallada enjoys eating "Mexican Pizza" while Anna Lopez "loves learning more about her heritage."

California Here We Come:

Before heading to California some adventurous members of the Partners Club received a send off. The Exec. Council gave them sun glasses, because they need to look cool. While at Disneyland, Robert Larsen's favorite ride was Star Tours. The students got to talk to the pilot in the cockpit. They went to Venna's Beach and there were people dancing, so they joined in.

Pizza Party:

The NHS had a pizza party club Wednesday meeting. Who would miss it for pizza? Mike Holt added, "The pizza was luscious." "The pizza was really to entice members, and to discuss confidential matters," Mike Rawlings admitted.

VICA is a club all about cars, how they operate, and how to fix them. Cody Carlson is in VICA because "I can compete, and use my knowledge to do my best." Most of their time is spent assembling car engines and transmissions.

Doug Sharp's biggest accomplishment is "changing the blinker fluid on a Dodge car." Blinker fluid in a Dodge? It just goes to show that Doug Sharp knows absolutely nothing about cars! Blair Buttars joined the club because, "My older friends were in it, and I enjoy learning about cars. I think it is fun!" This skill will help them the rest of their lives.

The band competing in the open class division, performed three Beatles' songs, "Magical Mystery Tour", "Hey Jude", and "Yesterday." The competition was held in the Holt Arena in Pocatello. They received the participation award. Julie Owen commented, "The band did an excellent job!"

Drug Free Week:

The week of October 28, was Drug Free Week. For two days, they stopped cars, doing seatbelt checks. Those who wore seatbelts and students who wore seatbelts both days received an award with a prize. Many teachers and students wore ribbons. All Holly Martin wanted was a ribbon and apple, but they wouldn't give it to her because she didn't sign the pledge, so she cried! # FUN WITH CANS

How often does a studentbody get a chance to humiliate their teachers, show that they're the best school in the valley, and help feed hundreds of needy people all at the same time? PHS students proved their ability to bond together and accomplish all of these things during this month's canned food drive.

PHS's canned food drive committee set a goal of 1500 cans, and decided to give students an incentive to help meet the goal. A list of wacky things teachers would do if certain numbers of cans were collected was set forth, and the cans started to pour in.

Dawn Hobley, who brought in 206 cans, the most of any student, said, "It was so easy to collect the cans, I got all of mine in one night. This was an activity anyone could get in on."

Not only did we reach our original goal of 1500 cans, but far surpassed it, the total can count being 4000 cans! This achievement not only made us the #1 can collecting high school in the valley, but it also forced the teachers to do things we never thought possible. "It was actually wonderful. I didn't have to decide what to wear everyday, and I didn't have to take time sorting my clothes," remarked Mrs. Cattani. Mr. Golightly commented, "No one believed I was really wearing my fishing gear, until I showed them the pictures that proved it." The students loved it, too. "I thought Mr. Williams was pretty darn sexy," said Ruth Garvis. Whether you're a student or an unfortunate teacher, the canned food drive was definitely a blast.

Dinner and a Murder

This fall's play "A Murder is Announced" gave PHS theatre lovers a new experience. It was a dinner theatre, so audience members were actually on the stage with the actors! "It definitely made it more intriguing, with the action only 5 feet away from me," said Kim Kelley. The actors had a different view of it, though. "It was extremely creepy for reality to be so near us. It almost made the murder stuff seem real," commented Julie Satterlee, who played the lead role.

Thanksgiving Assembly

To get the studentbody excited about thanksgiving, the exec. council put on an assembly. The string ensemble and ball room dance club both made their debuts, and each class put on a skit. J.D. Seamons commented, "Although not one skit made sense, assemblies are always a great excuse to get out of class."

Washington D.C... Close-Up!

Seven PHS students went back east this month to visit our nation's capitol, Washington, D.C. Sight seeing, visiting, and discussions filled up most of the agenda, they hardly slept at all. Some highlights were: The Holocaust museum, Gettysburg, Fort McKinley, The National Archives, and Capitol Hill.

STRESSED OUT!

Homework, jobs, chores, clubs, sports - Yikes! Sometimes it seems like there's too much to do, and no time to do it in. Everyone expects you to be everywhere at once, and you can't do it all. It's called stress, and almost every high school student has felt its effects. Fortunately, students at PHS have developed ways to handle their stress.

"I go snowboarding and take out all of my frustrations on the slopes," said Ashley Lineback. When Cindy Gibby has stress, she likes to, "do deep breathing exercises with Jane Fonda." Justin Cox likes to, "do Sweatn' to the Oldies with Richard Simmons."

"I usually pull my hair out."

- Chad

Checketts

Some students are a little bit more violent. "I usually hit something or someone, then I feel better," commented Kaycee Paskins. Tara Keller likes to, "throw things - like books, shoes, lamps . . ." when she gets stressed. Sandi Johnson has a fun technique. "I make sure I'm all alone, then I stare at the wall for a moment to build up the frustrations. Then suddenly, I yell like a wild woman until I feel better."

All of us have our different methods for dealing with stress, but no matter how well your method works, most of us probably wish we were like Toni Johnson who says, "I'm a 100% stress free person!"

The State tournament to many teams is only a dream, but to Launa Moser and her volleyball teams it is a consistent reality.

The most memorable times athletes have usually come from this tournament. And since the Seniors have had their last opportunity to go to state, their experiences will mean a great deal to them.

Besides playing good and having a Halloween party, Senior Stephanie Stevenson's favorite highlight was "bobbing for apples in the toilet." The funnest part for Lesli Wilcox was "Dressing up, trick-or-treating, and getting awesome BMC West hats from Terry." For Kaycee Paskins the excitement all came by "beating Bear

Dawn Schvaneveldt also enjoyed beating St. Maries "because they've always been in the championship game." Coach Moser's favorite part was "beating two excellent teams that have given us trouble in the past and beating them convincingly."

Back at the hotel, Kellie Kingsford got her kicks off "The hair dyeing." And the best part of the whole thing for Haley Harris was "Room 207." The entire team will never forget State, and we'll never forget them and the awesome job they did this year.

Drills can be fun:

The favorite drills for the J.V. and Varsity Girls Basketball teams to do during practice is the 3 on 2 on 2 on 1 drill. Another drill that most of the team liked was the perfection drill.

Mac and His Tape:

Trainer, Mac Smith has to wrap a lot of injuries. During the school year, Mac will go through about 800 rolls of athletic tape, and about half of those are used during the fall sports.

Early Injuries:

At the early part of the winter season P.H.S. has had enough injuries already. The most serious was Julie Harris's torn ACL. There are many other minor injuries on the wrestling team and the boys basketball teams.

Third coach in 4 years:

The boys' basketball team has to get used to yet another new coach. This year the boys will be led by Coach Coy Pratt. He came from rival Marsh Valley where he was very successful.

Easy Way In:

You should've been in the gym if you wanted a chance to be on the girls basketball team. Since there was only enough to make up the J.V. and Varsity team nobody was cut, so they had their first practice.

Someone To

LOOK UP TO

Everyone needs heroes, some one to look up to, look to for an example. Students at PHS certainly have them, and they're pretty interesting.

"YODA is my hero, because he taught me how to be short AND cool," commented Gus Colin.

Landon Bradfield went through much inner conflict when trying to pin down just one hero. "It's either Superman, because it's his buffness my life is patterned after, or Mr. Bean, just because," he said.

He's short and cool!

Lesli Wilcox's hero is a little more close to home. She remarked, "Mr. Golightly is my hero because no one else understands how deeply I feel about math."

Scott Flippence's heroes are "the entire BYU football team! They're number 5 in the whole country!"

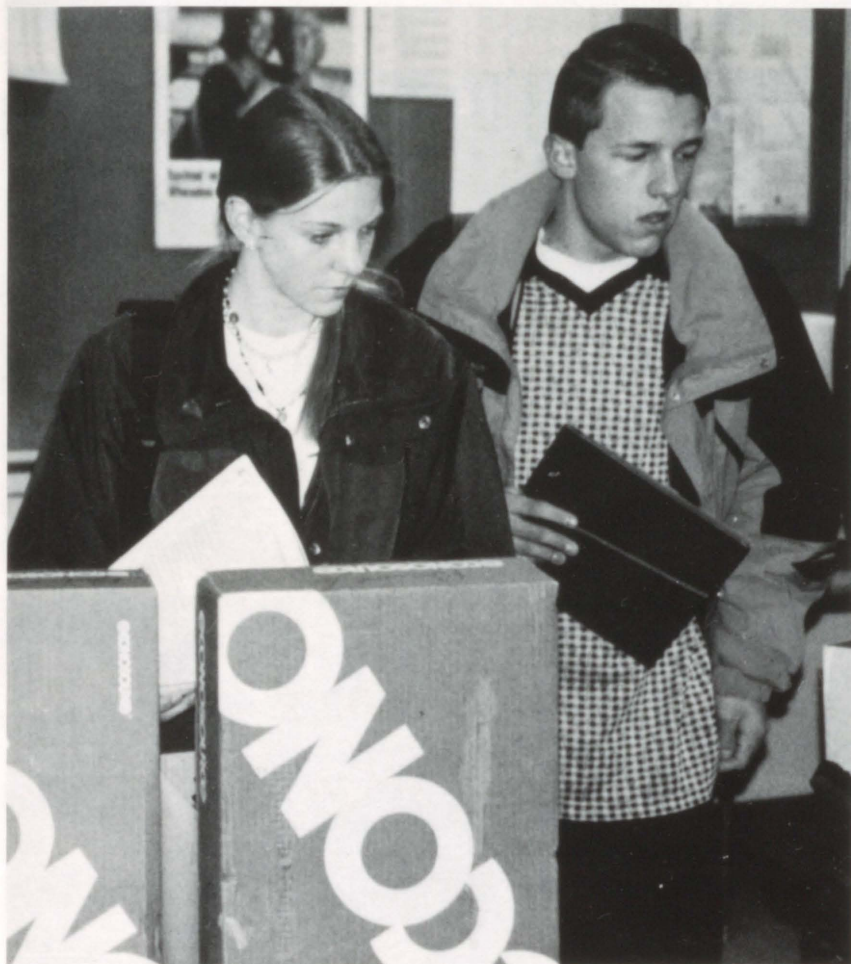

Emily Gibby wants to be like "all the girls on Baywatch, because they get to carry around red floatation devices and hang out with David Hasselhoff." Well, I guess everyone has to have a hero!

number of candy canes in a jar. Couples dressed up in various unusual costumes, and went crazy at the dance. In the words of Brooke Hart, "the atmosphere at girl's choice was so relaxed, I just had a blast and didn't have to worry about anything at all."

Give Me a Kiss!

During the week before Christmas break, there were a lot of kisses going around PHS - chocolate ones. Students were given an opportunity to send a kiss to friends and people they hoped could be a little more than friends, along with a message. Messages ranged from the relatively tame "You're a great friend" and "You're hilarious" to some that might be a little more risky; such as "You jingle my bells" and "Meet me under the mistletoe." Needless to say, everyone at PHS got plenty of kisses this Christmas, and they weren't all under the mistletoe.

Research This!

The most dreaded assignment of all high school students became a reality for seniors this month-the RESEARCH PAPER! Students labored and stressed for three weeks trying to come up with the masterpiece that would bring them the coveted A. "It wasn't as bad as I thought it would be," remarked Kaycee Paskins. Most students worked hard right up until the last minute, a good portion of them staying up all night to finish. Once they got it turned in it was sure a load off their minds. Shannon Weeks, Cindy Christensen, and Laurel Lee echoed the sentiments of most seniors when they said, "We're just glad it's over!"

Movie of your life...

If you could have a movie made of your life, who would play you??

- "Meg Ryan, because she found her soul mate on top of the Empire State Building."
- Christina Westerberg
- "Charlie Brown because he has good intentions, but is a 'blockhead.'"
- Mellisa Cole
- "Christian Slater, pure resemblance reasons."
- Dustin Woytko
- "Tom Arnold- he's chubby and never shuts up."
- Jeff Ballif
- "Drew Barrymore because she is as wild as me."

SNOW DAY

"Pull out
the Disney
Classics and make popcorn"

You awaken to the familiar sound of your alarm. Looking out the window, you see a welcome sight, - SNOW. And lots of it. Flipping on your radio, you frantically turn the dial to 1340 AM, Preston's one and only radio station. You impatiently listen to a few country music songs. Finally, the voice of D.J. Mike Adams sounds, announcing that school is officially CANCELLED!!!

You jump out of bed in excitement, realizing you have another day to study for that test. Then you come to the awful realization. There are four feet of snow outside your front door, and your vehicle is stuck in the driveway. What is there to do besides shovel snow? Some of our students at PHS found interesting ways to pass the time on their unexpected day off...

Many students took the opportunity to enjoy the snow. "Since it's impossible to go anywhere, I ski down the rolling hills of Riverdale"-Brett Reeder. Sheridee Inglet shared her politically correct idea of fun on a snow day with us. "I make little snowmen and snowwomen!!" Erica Olson "goes sleigh riding and stomps her name in the snow big enough so all of Farview can see."

Some people find time to do other things. Ami Wilcox "writes letters to far away friends." Snow days also provide ample opportunity to catch up on favorite soaps. Then there are students like Chance Burns, "I pull out the Disney Classics and make popcorn." "Once we played Barbie Dream Date..." Lesli Wilcox. Courtney Moser found a great way to warm up, "I always make myself a hot cup of cocoa with cinnamon and whip cream in it." Jon Rassmussen offered a solution that would work for almost anyone. If all else fails, "Just sit in your basement and play nintendo all day."

as a team

Every wrestler worries about the same thing, am I going to make weight? Each wrestler has his own way of making weight. At Preston High some wrestlers do it the easy way, by practicing and eating right. Others just stay off of the junk food and eat the healthy stuff. Then there are the ones that have to do more than change their eating habits, like Josh Anderson, who wears two to three sweatshirts to practice in order to lose three to four pounds. Then if Josh is still over weight he doesn't eat til after weigh in. Now is the time for the meet and we asked some wrestlers what happens before the match. Joshua Burbank said that they become united and mentally tough. Tyler Bowcut replied that someone always seems to have some words of inspiration.

Superstitions:

For many athletes, superstitions seem to play a role in their game. Sandi Johnson and Amanda Egbert believe that having breadsticks, soup, and a large fruit punch before each home game will help them play better. Kellie Kingsford believes there's something magical in what she wears if she does well after wearing it through out the day.

Handling Stress:

Stress can stop a player from playing to their potential. In order to relax and reduce stress many of our on going winter sport athletes listen to music, read, sleep, and think happy thoughts.

The Clock is ticking down and you're only up by one, the other team has the ball. Five, four, three, two, one, you win the game. This is how some athletes want the game to be, close and tense.

Sam Stocks would like to have a close game, "because if you are playing a tough team, the team works harder together; and you also prove to be an unstoppable team."

Andy Hansen says that "you see who the real player's are, who can play under pressure; a true champion wins when it matters most."

Then there is the opposite, some people would have the enjoyment of demolishing their opponent.

Dan Sharp believes that in demolishing your opponent you gain respect from them. There are other people in the world that have to be in between; they would like to have the hard fought game but also to have a execution game once in awhile.

Colin Olson would like right in between because it would be a challenge to demolish, but the other team just say you were lucky to win by a few points. Scott Holt and Boyd Roberts believe that a close game gets everybody involved, but they both like to demolish Westside.

Deaf Day Field Trip:

The Good Hands club went on a trip to Logan. As soon as they got off the bus they couldn't talk at all. They ate at JJ North's, and played a question answer game in sign language. After they went to the mall and had to buy three items using sign language. Melissa Randall said, "It was really fun, a neat experience, and I was scared the night before. I didn't know how much I knew but it was easy."

Carolyn Turner commented, "It was fun to make people think you were deaf and you really weren't. Also we had to meet some deaf people from Utah State University and we had to communicate to them. I was exhausted at the end of the day because we couldn't talk!"

The Concert Band performed with solo's by Shannon Weeks, Carrie Moosman and Julie Owen. The Concert Band ended the evening by performing the famous Sleigh Ride.

Combining Cultures:

The French, German, Spanish, and Good Hands clubs all got together for a Christmas party, combining all kinds of languages together for one great time. They went Christmas Caroling at the nursing home. After caroling, they ate food from the different countries. David Nelson commented, "It was cold caroling, but the food made me warm up." # IDEAL TEACHER

Here at PHS, we've got some pretty awesome teachers. However, they've each got different qualities that students like. What if you took the best of each of the teachers and put it all into one person? You'd have the ideal teacher! Here are some ideas that students at PHS had on how to build the perfect teacher.

Kevin Gilbert would start off with "Mr. Golightly's thumbs." Kim Christensen thinks it would be good to "combine Mr. Higley, Mr. Pratt, and Mr. Wilde for one full head of hair," then Tonia Rawlings would style it like "Mr. Seare's hair." Valerie Inglet would top it all off with "Mr. Robertson's sunglasses."

 "The shy demure of Mrs. Moser!"

Some students would like to go beyond physical features and combine some personality traits. Jenn Hampton thinks "the sweet humility of Mrs. Cattani, and the shy demure of Mrs. Moser" would work well. "Mr. Buys' 'Far Side' sense of humor" is what Sara Kay Westerberg thinks is necessary, and Brett Reeder would also take from Mr. Buys his "hands-on dissecting abilities."

Chris Johnson says "The power to strike fear into every student like Mr. Biggs" would be effective. Valerie Inglet thinks a teacher should have "accurate records like Mr. Williams." Dave Neeley summed up his feelings by saying, "Mr. Golightly IS the ideal teacher."

♦ New this year at PHS were the Stunt boys. They helped perform cheerleader stunts and they include: Chris Juhasz, Tim Perry, Kris Atkinson, Zane Caspersen, Tyson Burdette, Thomas Fullmer and Billy Swann. (Photo by: Scott Bosworth)

Film Fest!!!

This year marked the first annual PHS Film fest spear-headed by Jared Hess. Categories included Comedy, Documentary, Action and Science Fiction. Jared Abrams and Mark Hobson were the winners in the Sci-Fi Category. They were so proud of their trophy, they glued it to a can of spam. They even prepared a time-share schedule; Jared getting it on weekdays and Mark on weekends! Talk about having pride in your work!!

Stunts, Stunts, Stunts!

A new team was formed at PHS to help the cheerleaders pump up the studentbody- THE STUNTMEN. Not only do they assist the cheerleaders in awesome stunts, they also do some gymnastics and make the student section twice as loud as before! Brian Phillips commented, "Those men are almost as tough as Rocky Balboa. They bring a whole new dimension to the game."

Penalty Paper

For the past 5 years, students have clung to the "tradition" of throwing toilet paper onto the court after our basketball team makes its first point against our archrival, West Side. This action always results in a technical foul for our team, and a resulting loss of two points or more. This year Coach Pratt and our Exec. Council tried put a stop to this. Coach Pratt put out a plea to the studentbody over the intercom, urging them to pop balloons instead. The balloons were provided, and much toilet paper was confiscated, but some students got past this, and threw the paper anyway.

What's in a name?

- The most popular names for guys at PHS are:
  - David ..... 14 of them
  - Josh ..... 12
  - Matt ..... 10
- The most popular names for girls are:
  - Amber ..... 9
  - Jenny ..... 8
  - Emily ..... 7
  - Melissa ..... 7
- PHS's longest name is Christina Westerberg.
- The most unusual name is Yohanathan Guerrero
- Some students at PHS share the same name: there are 3 David Porters, 2 David Nelsons, and 2 Dan Sharps.

DOUBLE DARE!

"I can't believe I did that!" This is the phrase you hear yourself exclaiming upon the recollection of your daring deeds. There are many students at PHS who use this phrase often, and in some cases it's amazing that they lived to tell about it.

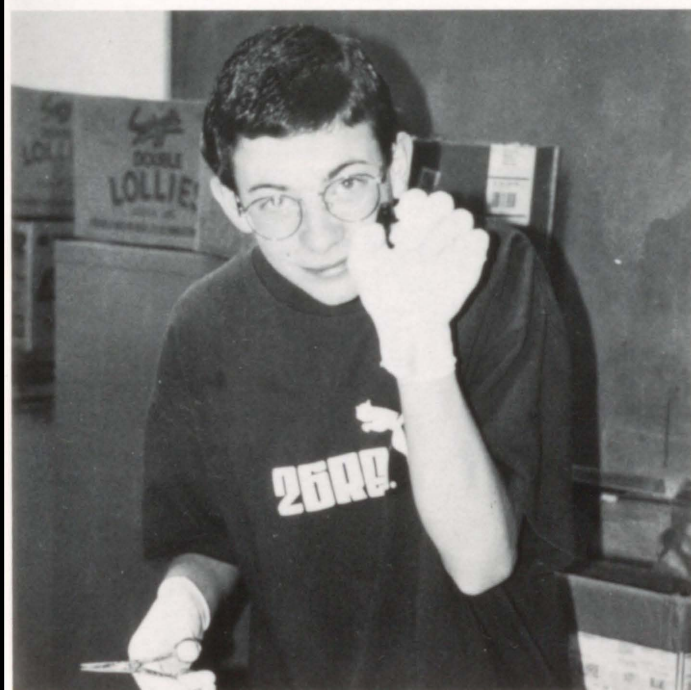

"I jumped over a car on my rollerblades," related David Wooley. Jake Bowen says, "Once I held my breath underwater for an entire minute."

Zane Casperson says that the most daring thing he ever did is "a toss up between riding the Turbo Drop at the carnival and asking a really cute girl to a dance." Kimberly Kelley remarks, "I went on a date with David Nelson, no comment needed." "I depanted my dad in front of his friends!" exclaimed Kelsey Leonard.

While all of these things are extremely daring, Tate Castleton gets the Daredevil Award for "toilet-papering naked."

Audrey Golightly said that she liked early morning practices because she had the rest of the day to do what ever she wanted. Sarah Owens thought that the early morning practices got her up and going each day. The Freshmen boys thought totally different of morning practices. The girls J.V. bas-

This season was exciting for the wrestlers as they broke Snake River's record of beating Preston. The wrestling team has only beat Snake River twice since Coach Higley has been coaching at Preston. The record was broken when Snake River came to Preston thinking that they were the best in the district. Preston's varsity team won the matches 35 to 28. Coach Higley knew that they could beat Snake River looking at their lineup, and the wrestlers wrestled real well against them. Coach Higley just hopes to beat Snake

A Dead Bird:

A funny experience for Molly Gilbert happened in American Falls at the football game. Everyone was cheering and it started to snow really bad. A duck got disoriented, and flew across the field. The football players were standing in front of the cheerleaders and so they couldn't see the duck coming. "The duck slammed right into my leg and landed in front of Amanda Hull's feet and just layed there."

INEL has a competition every Thursday. On the meet in Preston they were against American Falls, Snake River, and Pocatello. The team beat all three. In their competitions they are on their own for answers. The only time they can answer questions as a team is on the bonus question. Mr. Williams commented on his team saying,

"The team is doing great, and we have an excellent team. The play off's are going to be really close. It is going to come down to one or two points, like a basketball game. Hopefully we will make it to state this year."

Archery:

The Archery club shoots once a week. Jason Sparrow and Kerry Christensen are among the high scorers. Mr. Buys said, "At the beginning I used to give them big handicaps, but not any more. I really have to scramble to keep up to them!" Jason Sparrow said, "It is fun to practice and Mr. Buys is a pretty all right guy." Tim Whitmore added, "It's hard, it takes extreme concentration. It is fun, and it keeps kids out of trouble." The Archery club wishes there were teams that they could compete with so they could compare themselves with other people.

Phi-dels:

The Phi-dels have been practicing for competition and have been performing at halftime of basketball games. Cassie Dixon said, "Kathy Stranki is really great, and she communicates to us really well. I love the team, it is really fun. My favorite routine is show because I can express myself." Ginger Chadwick said, "I love early morning practices just because I get to see Cassie and Toni's bright smiling faces. As for my favorite routine it would have to be show and military because it is a change in music."

Aca-Deca has a class period in school and usually two hours of homework a night. The events or competitions are a series of ten events and seven are written. The super quiz is on information revolution. They also have an essay, speech, and an interview. The teams rival is Butte and they beat them by around 400 points. Christy Curtis said, "Mrs. Heers is our inspiration, she knows a lot. She studies with us and takes the tests for her own knowledge, she helps us with everything. She is the best!"

The Ski Club took a day off and all had a great time skiing. Curtis Hansen commented, "The snow was perfect. I can't actually remember what made me fall but I was sliding down the hill backwards, and I have a bruise to show for it!"

Pep Band:

"The Pep Band has been a great inspiration for the teams, they really get me excited to watch a game," said Beau Walton. Collin Olsen commented, "I really appreciate the support they give to our team. They are the best in District." Taggart Castleton added, "Heck they're the best in district."

DANCE

Ballroom Dancing is one of the newest clubs at PHS. They have performed for half time shows and assemblies this year. Their excellent performance shows that they must practice in order to make their routine perfect.

"I enjoy ballroom, it is very different club to be in but it's a lot of fun," commented Julie Owen. Julie's most embarrassing moment was when she was practicing. "My partner was running off the floor and he fell. He had me in a cradle so I fell with him. Everyone just laughed." Maybe she was referring to the same experience Thomas Fullmer was, "This one time, I was doing the two step and I dropped Julie Owen. I felt really bad because I know it really hurt her, but it will never happen again." Thomas Fullmer.

Food Judging:

Preston FFA hosted the districts food judging contest this month. The five member team, Sue Burbank, Rikki Leak, Kalani Bowman, Boyd Roberts, and Cathie Owen, took first place. The team had to taste and smell different food items such as eggs and milks to determine the quality of the product.

Candy Party:

FCYL invited the Westside FCYL to a candy party. They had a candy demonstration and a cake decorating demonstration. After, they decorated their own cupcakes and ate candy. "We actually ate more candy than we got to make." Laura Phillips.

BEFORE GRADUATION

Throughout high school, we are admonished by parents and teachers to make goals for ourselves. Each of us possess a certain passion or a dream we hope will eventually come true. We asked some PHS students exactly what it is they hope to accomplish before graduating.

Courtney Moser hopes "to understand everything Mrs. Cattani says, does and hands out."

Others have more realistic goals. "I am going to win seminary gotcha," said Will Sharp. Lesli Wilcox looks forward to "Beating Amber Golightly in the bridge building contest." "I hope me and Monique can be a couple in the dating assembly,"

"To kiss
the head cheerleader!!"

commented Chris Crockett. Jeremy Bowcutt would like to go on his first date. Ben Burbank hopes to "take district wrestling and get third in state." Lucky for Ben he became a district champ this month!!

Some goals might seem a bit strange: "To kiss the head cheerleader." -McKelly Peart. "Chug-a-lug a 32oz solution of cayenne pepper and still retain consciousness." -Kevin Gilbert. "To make it down the hall during lunch when Mrs. Cattani and Mr. Klinke are hall monitors." -Jill Griffeth.

Students have a big variety of goals, but Teryl Neilson pretty much speaks for everyone when he says he has to "Figure out what to do after graduation."

♦ The Boise science trip is always an exciting one. Students attending were required to build either a bridge, an earthquake tower, or mousetrap car. Six students won graphing calculators. # STUDENT LIFE

Valentines Day...

"I had to sift through piles of flowers just to find mine!" commented Jenn Hampton. She was referring to the abundance of flowers in the office on Valentines Day. Most people enjoy this day for lovers, unless as Janelle Moser says, "I hate Valentines Day; I never get any presents!"

Jungle Fever...

There were bananas and Tampico Orange Drink for all those who attended the Tarzan and Jane Dance. Jungle Fever was contagious for many couples. Some 'Tarzans' even sported stylish loin cloths (over their clothes, of course). Marla Orton traveled to the jungles of Brazil, (Mike Holt's basement) and enjoyed her date in a "jungle of love atmosphere". Denise Colin, who was picked up for her date in a winnebago commented, "I was shocked when I saw that thing in my driveway. I was hoping that it wasn't my date!" Overall, the Tarzan and Jane was a great dance!!

Hypnotized!!

It was the best assembly of the year!" commented Kathy Britt. This is common sentiment for those who witnessed the Hypnotist assembly. Within minutes 13 students were 'out cold' and doing whatever they were com-manded. It got pretty crazy. "I was worried that Michelle and Valerie would kill each other!" exclaimed Kim Christensen. "The best was when Victor started crying," remarked Nic Ransom.

CHANGE THE CHANNEL

You flip on the television to watch your favorite show. Just as it is reaching its climax, you are interrupted by that annoying commercial. You yell out in agony, "Not AGAIN!!!" Everyone seems to have a certain commercial that drives him/her insane. Students at PHS told us about their most hated T.V. commercial . . .

"I hate feminine hygiene commercials. Whenever they come on, there is always a guy in the room who leaves and waits to come back after it's over." -Sara Kay Westerberg. Shawn Jensen echoed that sentiment, "I hate feminine hygiene advertisements. Why would any guy want to see that?"

"That McDonald's 'Do ya wanna' commercial; it comes on every second!!-"

"That McDonald's 'Do ya wanna' commercial; it comes on every second!" exclaimed Ryan Bell.

"The Mentos Commercials; they're boring and stupid. They should hire Thomas Fullmer and Howard Nelson to write them," said Tonia Rawlings. "The milk one with the man in a body cast," complained Scott Flippence. "I hate those Ensure Commercials, where the old people drive around. Those are so phoney!!" exclaimed Bill Swann.

Out of all of the commercials students hate, however, the #1 most loathed advertisement is: the Energizer Bunny! He keeps going, and going, and going . . .

As February came to an end, so did the boys freshmen and JV basketball. The JV team ended with a record of 17 and 3, while the freshmen tried to keep their chins up after a 6 and 14 record. The freshmen team started out slow but got more wins later on in the season.

The main show in February was the Boys District Tournament. The varsity team started the tournament by playing American Falls who the boys just lost to at the last home game. So the team was ready to fight. The team came out with a thirteen point win over the Beavers. They then went on to play the Bears from Bear Lake in the semifinals, winning 44 to 30. Then to the championship game to determine who goes to state. The team was ahead most of the game but when it came down to the last few minutes the team fell behind and was unable to come back and beat Snake River. The boys still had a chance to go to state by beating Soda for second place, and they did convincingly.

Undefeated Season:

Junior, Kellen Fluckiger went through the entire '96-'97 season without losing a single match. Kellen ended the regular season with a record of 26-0.

Record Breaker:

Nathan Bradfield wrestling season was a success this year by breaking two of the wrestling records. He broke both the most wins and the most points records with 40 wins and 239 points respectively, and tied the most pins record at 22.

District Champs once more:

The Girls Basketball team took district again for the 5th straight year. The girls have taken district 16 out of the last 21 years. Coach Sessions contributes this winning legacy to tradition. "The girls come up through the program expecting to win and they do. I also believe the time the girls put into the off season really helps. In Preston we have a lot of great, dedicated kids."

The Running Lady Indians met up with the Beavers for the fourth time at state. Their last meeting was at the District Championship game, when Preston won by one point in overtime. The tables turned though when American Falls beat the girls at state. The girls enjoyed the competition of AF and will get them next time.

What's with the Halloween masks?:

The team had high expectations of themselves but fell short to some excellent teams, one of which won the state tournament. After having

As the girls basketball season came to an end we asked the next year Seniors what they planned to do to get ready for next years season. Brittanie Stokes replied that she would play a lot of one-on-one, while most of the other Juniors said they would simply play a lot of ball over the summer.

INEL took third place in district competition which qualified them for state. They were one out of eight teams that qualified for state.

Recycle:

The German Club students have done something about the waste paper problem at PHS. They have started a recycling program. The school generates a quarter of a tone of waste paper each week.

FFA wins big:

An assembly was held to honor the following clubs: FFA, AcaDeca, Rifle and the Boise Science trip group. They had to shoot with water guns, milk a glove full of milk, and put a puzzle together. FFA won with Becky Hyde putting the puzzle together at the end.

Good Hands:

The Good Hands assembly is one of the favorite assemblies of the year. Students gave us their thoughts on the assembly. Paul Owen commented, "I liked the song Black and White, it was cool." "The strobe light they used in Black and White it was awesome." Austin Brackin. Danny Noyes and Thomas Fullmer danced like robots and signed to the song Black and White. Many others had their own favorite part. Annette Gleason replied, "The song The Dance was sweet, it made me want to cry." David Beckstead added, "the whole things was incredibly interesting."

DESPERATE

"I ran up and down the street in my bra and underwear!"

If you wanted something really bad, how far would you go to get it? The freshman class responded to the most desperate thing they've ever done to get something they wanted.

"I ran up and down the street in my bra and underwear!" exclaimed Shanel Bennett. Scott Madsen recalls, "This one time, I had to say please." Jeff Wright actually had to "get off the couch to get a sandwich." Callie Hollingsworth told her family she would kill herself. Patrick Bodily states, "I held my breath until I passed out."

This is a warning to all men: Bartni

Carter "went out with someone for money."

Some freshmen were a little shy in answering. "I don't want to talk about it..." is all Tyson Titensor had to say.

Most girls would love a boyfriend like Tate Castleton, who traveled 15 hours to see his girlfriend. Jon Gleason remembers running around his house naked. Emily Daley went as far as getting down on her hands and knees.

If all else fails, do what Amber Hayes does. "I give them the puppy eyes."

It looks like Jeff Wright isn't hungry enough to get off the couch this time! (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

Laurel Larsen and Mike Early are the lucky ones being secured to the French Club's Homecoming Float. Perhaps Mrs. Walker is putting in action a new form of discipline for tardies. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

YOUR LOVE LIFE!

The following Freshman at PHS were asked what their favorite color, animal, and place by the water was. They were then asked to list 3 adjectives describing each. When asked these questions the students had NO idea that their favorite color represented: WHAT PEOPLE THINK OF THEM! Their favorite animal represents: WHAT THEY THINK OF THEMSELVES! Their favorite place by the water represents: WHAT THEY THINK OF THEIR LOVE LIFE!

USELESS

Whether it be curfews, homework, or math teachers, we all have something we think is completely useless. Some of the freshmen have very strong opinions about their most useless object.

"Eyelash curlers." says Laurel Larsen. "Who wants curly eyelashes?" Sarah Owens' opinion is, "Geometry proofs, who cares if a triangle is really a triangle?" Kari Warner uses her senses to determine her answer, "Porta-potty!" "My brain!" is Kim Jones' most useless object. Why? "Because it doesn't work!"

"Geometry Proofs!
Who cares if a triangle is really a triangle?!"

While finishing a geometry proof, Jordan Kerr somehow proves that a triangle is really a triangle. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

Brinna Winward keeps it short and simple. "Pinky toe!"

We can all agree with what Chiara Crosland has to say. "The top sheet. It always ends up at the bottom of your mattress or tied around your neck." Jimmy Golightly thinks drugs are the least useful object. Ellen Johnson's answer is pretty self explanatory. "Men! Need I say more?" "Wrangler jeans! They're ugly and they suck!" says Colin Olson. No offense, cowboys!

Jared Ross is a very logical thinker, "Paper weights. Paper doesn't lift weights!"

Since we all have different tastes, think about this: What do you think is the least useful object invented?

Jello is a popular desert dish at home, at a friend's house and even at the pit! It is packaged in a blue box, with a three step recipe easy enough for underclassmen. It even comes in sugar-free, and the flavor choices are endless. Jello is so popular, there is an entire row in the grocery store devoted to it!

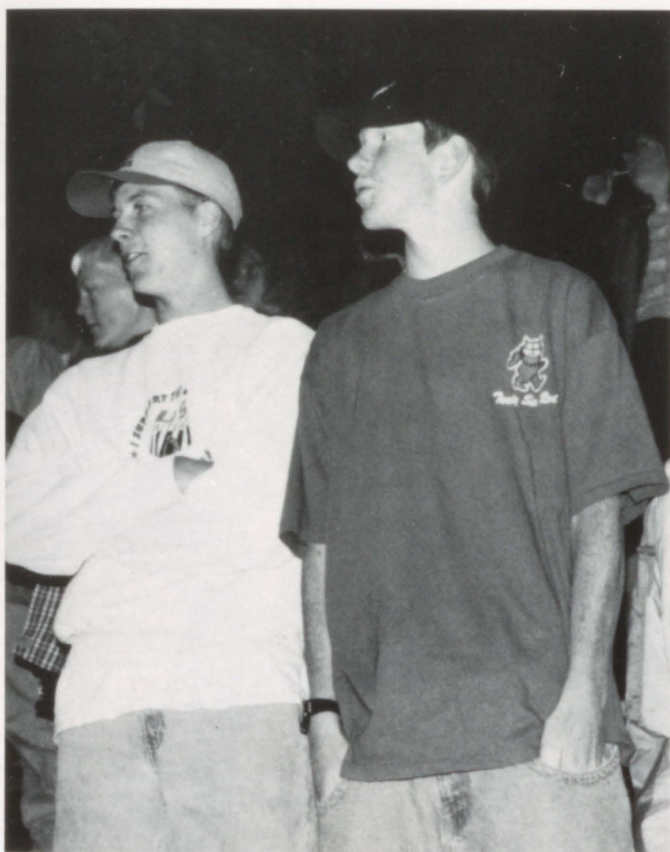

Although many people like jello just the way it is, some members of the sophomore class feel that some new flavors of jello are in order.

Alexis Chavarria has her heart set on making "Shrimp-flavored-Jello". Tyson Perry is also a fish fan, he thinks that "Tuna Fish" would be a big Jello seller. Chad Tueller has similar thoughts with his invention of "Pickled Egg Jello". Carson Campbell loves Della's cooking and wants to enjoy it at his home as well as at school. "I would like to see jello flavored like Della's Chili, then people all over the world could enjoy the taste of pit food."

Because of its taste and texture, Jake Bowen thinks "Elmer's Glue" would make a great jello flavor. Beth Smith's job at Big J's inspired her idea for "Hamburger jello". Nathan Hess feels that the car industry should share earnings with the Jello company when he saw "Diesel" as a possible flavor. Hannah Parker had a much milder idea, "Jelly Bean."

Bubble Gum, Bubble Gum, in a dish, how many peices do you wish? Imagine having a lifetime supply of bubble gum! You couldn't possibly chew all of that gum, and even if you did, imagine the condition of your teeth!

Luckily, we have many creative sophomores who have dozens of uses for bubble gum.

Justin Cox commented, "I would Totally cover myself in bubble gum, then ask Chelsie Clinton if she wants to chew a piece of me." Cindy Gibby, a devoted BYU fan would mold her bubble gum into "darts to throw at USU posters." Trevor Jensen, being very creative, would "build a Ping-Pong table using bendy straws and plywood." It makes you wonder how long something like that would hold up.

"I would put it in my ear and see if there is enough air coming out to make a bubble" thought Brooke Christensen. Lori Cole thought of a creative way to pass time during class, "I would mold my bubble gum into sculptures during boring lectures in seminary."

JUNIORS

CLASS OF '98

Grandma got ran over by a John Deer... Well not exactly. Erica Olson seems to be enjoying herself during the hometown parade. (Photo by: Laura Phillins)

The Junior Class Presidency reflects on the years gone by as they mingle with future leaders of PHS at Oakwood Elementary : Brian Phillips, President; Erica Olson, Vice President; Samantha Stocks, Secretary and Becky Child, Social V.P.

KINDS!

Ronnie Seamons and Russell Winn don't usually look this well-groomed, but during homecoming they decided to catch the school spirit and sport wacky do's for Funky Fro day! Charles Dryden is either embarrassed he didn't participate or in shock that Ronnie and Russell look so...different? (Photo by: Scott Bosworth)

YOUR LOVE LIFE!

The following Juniors at PHS were asked what their favorite color, animal, and place by the water was. They were then asked to list 3 adjectives describing each. When asked these questions the students had NO idea that their favorite color represented: WHAT PEOPLE THINK OF THEM! Their favorite animal represents: WHAT THEY THINK OF THEMSELVES! Their favorite place by the water represents: WHAT THEY THINK OF THEIR LOVE LIFE!

ROCKS

them to West Side and dump
off!

The most common thing to do when you see a rock, is to toss it aside. Believe it or not, there are people who enjoy rocks and have other things in mind for them! Here are some things that the Juniors at PHS would do with rocks:

Samantha Stocks said, "I would build a rock building, and have rock tables, and rock chairs, and serve rock candy. I would name it Bedrock!"

Mary Oliverson had some similar thoughts when she replied, "I would make a town similar to that of Bedrock!"

Toni Purser said, "Take them to West Side and dump them off!"

Corinne Gilmore said, "Hide them in food and feed them to Freshman!"

Mandy Allen was a little more business-minded when she said, "I would paint cute little faces on them and make a rock community and sell it for a TON of money!"

Nathan Bradfield was displaying his constructive side when he said, "Paint faces on them and use them for building blocks!"

Emily Bronson, thinking only of transportation said, "Build a Flintstone-like car or a rock car!" An alternative to this would be to buy a Chevrolet, after-all they are "like a rock!"

Tim Buys said, "Throw them at people who are interested in rocks!" Aubree

Stenberg was showing some school spirit when she said, "Glue them to my head and paint them blue!"

Who would have thought about family when asked this question? Ericka Hansen thinking about her younger sibling replied, "Throw them at my brother!"

Amber Murdock, displaying her sisterly love commented, "Build a solid wall between me and my sister."

William Hull and Ande Urigen display their affection towards rocks.

LATE!

Some
psychotic
maniac was holding me hostage!

Uh... Well... Um... I was there....I was here!" These are some of the stories that teenagers give their parents when attempting to prevent being GROUNDED! Sometimes you just have to stay out a little bit longer than expected. When you are late for your curfew what do you tell your awaiting parents?

Colter Sears told his parents that, "My friends left me and then remembered and had to go all the way back to Logan to get me!"

"My girlfriend wouldn't let me go," is a common excuse that guys have, especially for McCoy Smith.

Sometimes even very "logical" excuses don't work, "My friend was having mental problems and I had to help her!", exclaimed Cally Sharp. Chris Burbank also tried a very logical excuse, "Some psychotic maniac was holding me hostage!"

"My bicycle broke down," is an excuse Charles Dryden used on his parents.

Tyler Porter was just busy doing some dirty work but told his parents differently. "I told them that we hit someone's dog on the way home so we felt bad and had to tell the owners, and they gave us hot chocolate and cookies!"

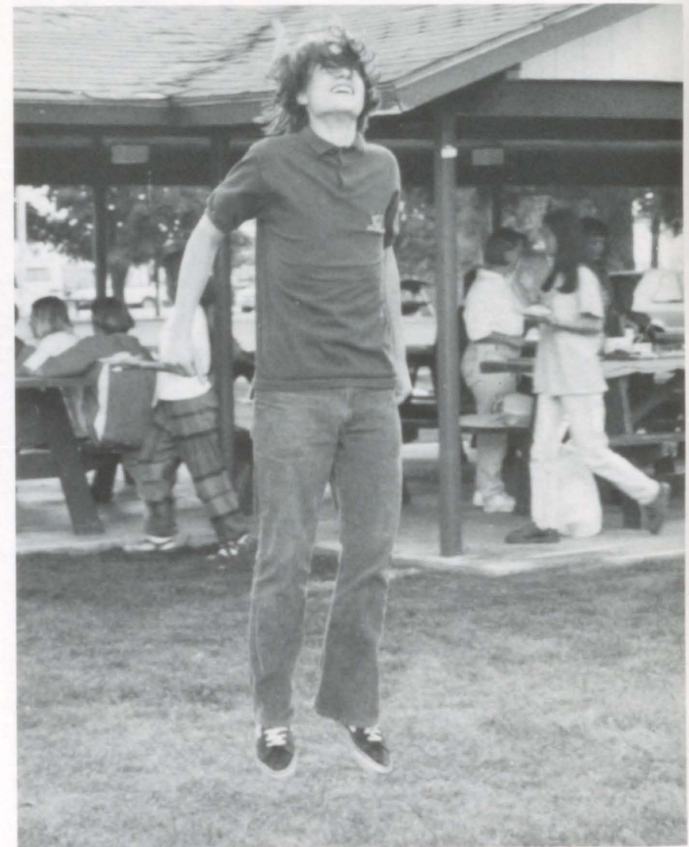

Some people try some pretty dumb excuses. Maria Soto thought it was worth a try when she told her parents, "I was stuck in traffic!" (Traffic in Preston, Idaho)?

The seasons can also give you a bit of help when it comes to excuses. Melissa Champney told her parents, "I got the car high centered in the snow and I had to walk home!" Amy Nielson really knocked her parents away with her excuse AND the state of the car when she revealed, "We hit a cow!"

Whatever your reason might be, just be ready to endure the loneliness of being GROUNDED!

PARENTS!

I could get a French accent with a German twist!

If you could have any two famous people as your parents who would they be and why?

Joe Steele - "Kurt Cobain and Shania Twain, then my house would be rockin' with the best of both worlds!"

Andy Hobson - "Mrs. Walker and Mr. Koch, I could get a French accent with a German twist!"

Sara Fuller - "Fred and Wilma Flinstone, I'd never have to do the dishes and they're just so cool!"

Clint Harris - "John Doe and Jane Doe, they don't exist. No Parents!!"

Chris Johnson - "Batman, because then bullies would be afraid to take my lunch money or Wonder Woman, so if my dad was afraid of someone, my mom wouldn't be!"

Britny Christensen - "George Straight and Reba McEntire, they would always have good ol' music in the house!"

Tyra Leonard - "Lois and Clark, so I could fly and with a hot mix like that I could probably turn out cute!"

Alone and Uninhibited

It's 6:00 at night and you have to stop by school to pick up your forgotten English homework. As you pass Mr. Buy's room you have the sudden urge to see whether his skeleton George is in the cabinet, or confirm the suspicion you've always had that Mr. Buys actually takes him home every night.

You look down the long, dark hallway and decide it's a go, but as you put your hand on the doorknob, you hear a deep voice behind you. "You know, I have to lock those doors at night so prowlers don't get in," Mr. Juhasz informs you. Darn! But what if none of the doors in the school were locked? What if there were no janitors? What if you were all alone in PHS with no chance of being caught, what would you do?

"First I would flood the halls, pour bubble bath on them, and start busting some moves. Next, I would round up some grub from Mrs. E's kitchen, maybe pudding paint on the mirrors." - Carrie Moosman

 "I would go to Oliverson's room and flex in front of Arnold." - Matt Peterson

"I would throw a fiesta!"

"I would use the girl's bathroom." - Matt Coburn
 "I would steal napkins from the pit." - Kim Kelley

"I would make the biggest wet toilet-paper sculpture in the world along the halls, then cover my entire artistic impression with fire extinguisher foam." - Flavio Freitas
 "I would have to redecorate Mr. Golightly's room." - Heidi Elison

"I would steal the tennis balls off the bottoms of the desks and have a huge bonfire." - Trevor Newbold

"I would throw a fiesta." - Josh Swann
 "I would roast marshmallows in chemistry lab." - Ben Harris

Adrienne Stewart seems unsure about riding the Zipper. Unfortunately for her, Emily Gibby looks more than happy to drag her on. Hey, that's what friends are for! (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

So What's Your Excuse?

On a normal day, the thought of a 48 minute block of time completely devoted to the pursuit of knowledge excites PHS seniors into hyperactivity. However, surprisingly enough, sometimes students do feel the need to bust out of class. When this happens, the class of '97 has some lines to use that have worked for them in the past:

"My cow is having a baby - I need to go check her to see if she's okay." - Boyd Roberts

"Emily Gibby and I all of the sudden stood up in the middle of AP Government and said, "We're going to Logan," and then we left. Mr. Womack didn't say a word." - Christina Westerberg

"I have a woman problem." - Travis Purser

"I tell them I have morning sickness." - Josh Griffeth

"I put Carmex in my eyes to make them water, and said it was a contact problem - I don't wear contacts." - Nikki Broadhead

"I got in a fight, got hit with a bat in the head, was knocked out cold, and didn't wake up until the next morning - I was unconscious during your class." - Brooks Martin

"My camera needs to take pictures."

- Laura Phillips

"My great-aunt is being buried in the Preston Cemetery. (It was a legal excuse even if Mr. Williams didn't believe it.) - Jill Griffeth

"My cow is having a baby!"

The marble benches are a great place to hang out and socialize. At least that's the case for Allie Petterborg. However, Lesli Wilcox is extremely disturbed by the sight of something. Perhaps it's the teacher she is currently doing a last-minute essay for. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

Sixteen Days of Glory

This summer in Atlanta, Georgia, the world breathlessly looked on as the triumphs and heartbreaks of the 1996 summer Olympics played out.

It was an incredible 16 days - with one exception. There were no athletes from Preston High! If you were confused as to why, wonder no more. The events they excel at weren't available!

While many seniors long to have rodeo or football in future Olympics, others' requests are a little more unusual:

- "Synchronized zip-lining." - Mike Holt
- "Indian leg-wrestling." - Lesli Wilcox
- "Bobbing for trout." - Cody Talbot
- "Pickleball." - Jared Abrams

"Bobbing for Trout!"

"Kissing rugby - that'd be intense." Michael Rawlings

"Donut frosting." - Molly Gilbert

"Paintball." - Josh Griffeth

"Pit-chili eating contest." - Tim Perry

"Water badminton." - Stephanie Stevenson

"100 meter streaking." - Blair Butters

"Who can eat the most peaches?"

- Felix Roy

"Lugie spitting - for distance and form." - Thomas Fullmer

"How far you can kick your shoe off." - Jessica Shulsen

"Ear-wiggling." - Karen Gamble

Yes, Karen, it would warm the heart of every person at PHS, faculty and students alike, to see Mr. Golightly on that gold medal platform.

It's a good thing that Josh Griffith is wearing his trademark shades, or he would be unrecognizable in that cowboy hat! Ruth Garvis seems more than willing to help the new "Cowboy Josh" with his work. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

What will never go out of style?

- "Socks" - Adam Goodsell
- "Being different" - Flavio Freitas
- "Me" - Matt Egley
- "Utah Jazz Basketball" - Dan Sharp
- "Cheetos" - Shannon Weeks
- "Wranglers" - Jason Jardine
- The word "cool" - Sylvi Ann Esplin

Don't Fall Asleep

Whoa! The lecture your teacher is giving has been going on for the last 25 minutes, you've got 23 left, and the speech is not getting any more interesting. Your mind is numbing and you wish you had something more entertaining to do, like watch paint dry. No need to start banging your head on your desk! Just listen to some tips that the class of '97 has for this situation:

"I count the beauty marks on my arms - 33 at last count." - Matt Peterson

"I usually strike up a conversation about farm equipment with Mr. Golightly." - Adrienne Stewart

"I memorize freckle structures." - Jason Cox

"I pretend my hands are brontosaurus and make

"I have dreams about the teachers disappearing"

them fight each other." - Kevin Gilbert

"I have really weird daydreams about the teachers disappearing." - Sharee Welch

"Sometimes I watch Jason Cox set people's hair on fire." - Cindy Christensen

"I throw paper balls at bees." - Matt Coburn

"I make weapons out of school supplies." - Jared Hess

"I pass myself out." - Trevor Newbold

"I dissect my writing utensils." - Jason Sparrow

"I snip off my split ends with safety scissors." - Christie Owen

Christie Owen

"I just think clean thoughts." - Cody Talbot

"I look around to catch the people who are trying to be sneaky while picking their nose." - Jenn Thomas

Shannon Weeks, Megan Winward, and Ann Marie Biggs find whatever Mrs. Cattani is saying hilarious. However, Ben Harris is demonstrating how he gets through a long lecture - he sleeps. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

There's Always Something!

There's nothing to do in Preston after midnight, right? If you hang out with these Seniors there is!

- "Watch Mr. Bean and drink Tampico." Cameron Woolf
- "Break dance in the street." Jason Cox
- "Flex." Jared Hess
- "Howl at the moon through an open window." Rebecca Seamons
- "Run around your house in the snow with no socks or shoes." Megan Winward
- "Get Shasta at stokes for a quarter." Mike Rawlings

"As diverse and unique as the students"

Administration

Al Koch
Principal
Reid Carlson
Vice Principal
Athletic Director

Some members of our administration use alternate modes of transportation. During the warm season, you might catch a glimpse of Mr. Carlson riding his red bike or you might spot Mr. Taylor riding his horse in the mountains. These are just two of the many important individuals helping PHS run smoothly.

Some might only recognize Mr. Koch for his distinct German accent or the secretaries for their amazing ability to recognize a parent's forged signature (busted!).

When passing the gym, one might take a gander at the men's track record board. Our own athletic director, Mr. Carlson holds the record in the medly relay. Our three counselors also have some hidden talents. While Mr. Buys is well-known for his guitar playing abilities, Mr. Baxter admits that he once attempted to play the trumpet. In the days of her youth, Mrs. Stewart was a surfer girl, "hang ten" in Southern California!

So who are the administrators at PHS? Individually they are as diverse and unique as the students with whom they interact, just another reminder to us that "It Takes All Kinds!"

Embarrassing!

As high school students, we all have embarrassing moments. After one of these experiences, it may seem like we can't go on living. Have you ever wondered what some of our teachers got embarrassed about when they were in high school? We asked some of them this question and the replies were...., Embarrassing!

"I got caught skinny dipping with a bunch of girls, by a bunch of boys!"

"I sprained my ankle running between classes!"

- Mrs. Erickson

"I dropped my books in government class and bent over to pick them up. My pants spilt right there in class, the whole class laughed."

- Mr. Pratt

"I almost choked to death while eating at my boyfriend's house."

- Mrs. Walker

"I was caught skinny dipping with a bunch of girls, by a bunch of boys."

- Mrs. Moser

"I double-dated with another couple. We went late one night to Bear Lake and took a boat out on the lake, because I said I knew how to row it, but I didn't. We got stuck way out in the lake and my date had to row us back to shore!"

- Mr. Derricott

"I got caught leading two girls on at the same time at a girl's choice dance."

- Mr. Oliverson

"I sat across from a row full of girls at the time when girls wore mini skirts, and my teacher asked me a question about our assignment. I said, "BLUE" which was the color of the girls underwear across from me."

- Mr. Brodock

"I showed up to play a basketball game and found out I forgot my uniform."

- Mr. Wilde

"My skirt fell off in the middle of a performance."

- Miss Weaver

"I got caught after moving all the teachers' desks into other teachers' class rooms!"

- Mrs. Heers

Pregame coin toss and rule explanations to the powder puff coaches seemed to go well and spirits were light. Coach Kluss acted as a referee and Mr. Creel and Mr. Oliverson were amused with the idea that they might get beat. (Photo by: Mr. Hansen)

Mr. Womack explores the new computers that were placed in the teacher's rooms. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

If you think the "Pit" is run by itself, you're wrong! If it weren't for these great ladies preparation everyday, the "Pit" just wouldn't be the same! Della Moser, Bonnie Cocks, and Barbra Andra. (Photo by: Scott Bosworth)

If you think being a student is tough try being an aid! These ladies do a great job! Tamra Sessions, Sue Weeks, Debbie Poole, Jean Hopson, Penny McNeal, and Sherrie Moser. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

Did you know. . .

(Facts about teachers)

85% of our teachers have dyed their hair

16% of our teachers would give up teaching if they won the lottery

52% would teach part-time

41% of our teachers have had braces

40% had a car in high school

44% have failed a class

60% held an office in high school with the exception of Mr. Klinke, who was "held by the office once" no comment

300 steps that are given out per year on an average by our faculty

Mr. Higley likes to talk to some of the students that participate in wrestling, to ensure their participation in the upcoming season. Looks like he was successful with Nathan Bradfield! (Photo by: Scott Bosworth)

Can the teachers STILL ROCK?! Mr. Robertson was the lead singer for the teacher's skit for the back to school assembly. Along with Mr. Klike, Mr. Williams, Mr. Gunter, and Ms. Anderson they really got down! (Photo by: Mark Hobson)

Q: If you could do anything in the school and not get in trouble, what would you do?

A: Booby trap some of my students and fellow teachers. They deserve it and it would keep things interesting! Mr. Smith

Q: If you were elected President of the United States, what would be the first thing you would do and why?

A: I would send troops to take over Canada and Mexico, so much for NAFTA. Mr. Shumway

Q: What's your favorite thing to do during the summer?

A: Go hiking and be outside. Miss Jensen

Q: If you could do anything in the school and not get in trouble what would you do?

A: I would recruit a seven footer for the basketball team. Mr. Pratt

Q: If you were made President of the United States, what would be the first thing you would do?

A: Plan a four year vacation in Hawaii. Mr. Klinke

Q: What is your favorite thing to do during the summer?

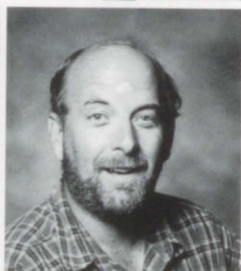

A: Participate in military maneuvers! Mr. Christensen

Q: If you could do anything in the school and not get in trouble what would you do?

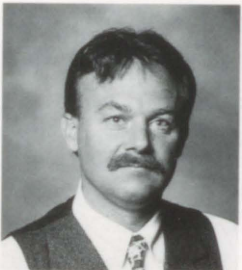

A: Chew gum and stick it underneath my desk! Mrs. Kluss

Q: If you were elected President of the United States, what would be the first thing you would do and why?

A: Put more money into education!
Mrs. Walker

Q: What's your favorite thing to do during the summer?

A: Water ski my butt off!
Mr. Williams

Q: If you could do anything in the school and not get in trouble what would you do?

A: Disconnect the intercome!
Mr. Seare

Q: If you could do anything in the school and not get in trouble what would you do?

A: I'd sand the gym floor down, then have Cory Johnson paint something very nice on it like the NY Yankee logo! We have the worst floor in Idaho. Mr. Hansen

The janitors sure do a great job of keeping our school clean. From three o'clock in the morning to seven o'clock at night; Mr. Dale Moosman, Mr. David Mitchell, Mr. Cedar Hodges, and Mr. Maurice Nielson keep very busy. (Photo by: Laura Phillips)

If you could change one thing about your appearance, what would it be and why?

Obtain Natural Muscles! - Mr. Christensen

"I would be taller, it would help, me reach more of my cupboards at school and at home."
- Mrs. Erickson

"I would have a full head of hair because my head gets cold." - Mr. Pratt

"I would be in great shape and totally buff."
- Mrs. Walker

"I'd like to have long blonde hair, I think I'd be sexier." - Mr. Williams

"I would grow a really cool goatee."
- Mr. Shumway

"I would fix my nose because, the one I have has holes in it." - Mr. Robertson

"I would be taller, getting down the halls these days, I find shoulders closing in over my head."
- Mrs. Heers

Hollywood

"John Wayne - because he doesn't take any ----!"

If you could be one major Hollywood Star who would you be? With fame, glory, and money who wouldn't want to be a star?! When we asked some of our teachers which star they would like to be, we got some pretty shocking answers!

"Someone who dances (with clothes on!) because I've always loved to dance.

- Mrs. Erickson

"John Wayne - because he doesn't take any - - - -!"

- Mr. Pratt

"Mel Gibson, he is established and he makes a ton of money!" - Mr. Kluss

"Benji - what a life!" - Mrs. Moser

"Mel Gibson - he has a cute butt, nice hair, and girls love him!" - Mr. Williams

"Arnold Schwarzenegger. He's my idol physically, and I enjoy the parts he plays."

- Mr. Oliverson

"Kevin Costner - my wife has the Hots for him!"

- Mr. Brodock

"John Wayne, the duke rules!" - Mr. Shumway

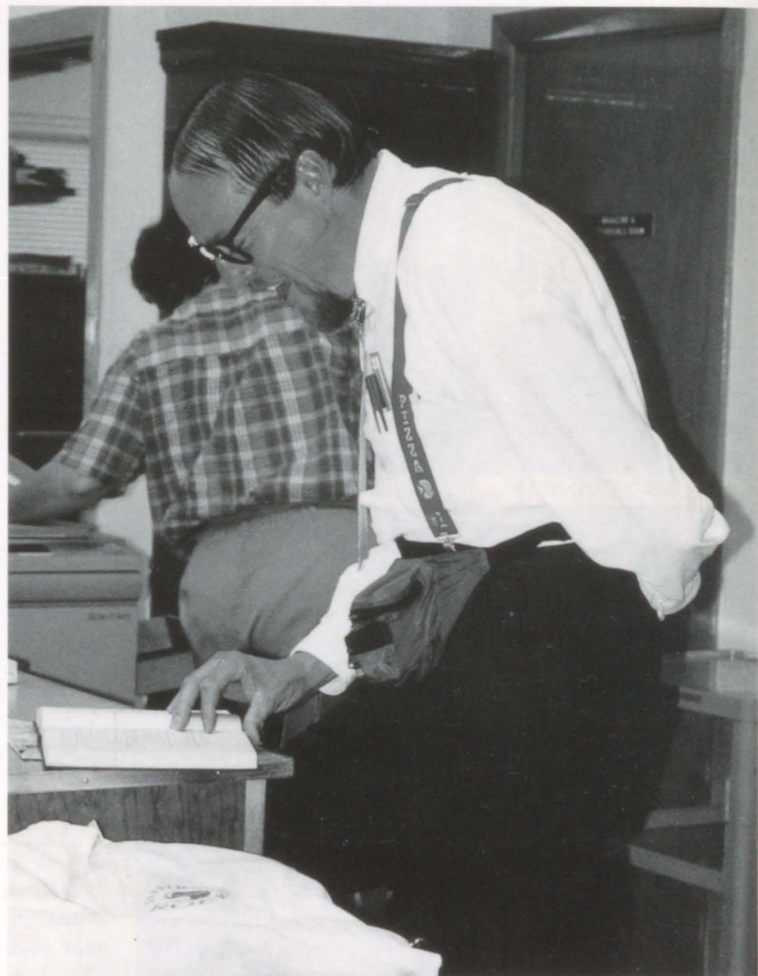

"Madonna - why? Think about it!

- Mr. Robertson

STUFF

What stresses you out the most?:

- ♦ When I don't understand something.
- Dustin Ayotte
- ♦ Where I am going to get money for college?
- Kathy Britt
- ♦ Figuring out what to do about dates.
- Hannah Parker
- ♦ Mrs. Baumgartner's geometry class.
- Chris Crockett
- ♦ Rumors that go around school. - Valerie Inglet

STUFF

Question: What do you think bus drivers do when they get home?

- ♦ Build Nuclear weapans.
- ♦ Eat spaghetti
- ♦ Sleep
- ♦ They go through all the kids back packs that were left on the bus that day.
- ♦ Go through lunch boxes and eat the leftover food.
- ♦ They take off their human costumes and phone home.
- ♦ They watch the Magic School Bus.
- ♦ They rearrange the body fluid clean-up kits.

Ways to know they are serving chili in the pit:

- ♦ When girls shove to get ahead in line.
- ♦ When Adrienne Stewart hands out green straws.
- ♦ You can feel the floor rumbling.
- ♦ David Nelson carries around his cell phone (to excuse himself early for lunch).
- ♦ There's a line going across the street.
- ♦ All the dogs in town are barking.
- ♦ Russell Woodward wears his green racing pants.
- ♦ Scott Bosworth wears his green racing shirt.
- ♦ The smell!
- ♦ Your 5th hour teacher bars the doors to keep you from leaving early.
